Ulster Escapes Fatalities; 45 Die in State

REMINDER TO MOTORISTS — School's Open, Drive Carefully, says signs posted by city officials and the Automobile Club of New York to remind drivers that youngsters start to classes for the fall semester on Wednesday. Grouped around the first poster put up are (l-r) Alderman G. F. McArdle, 13th ward, chairman of the Common Council traffic control committee; Martin Klein, assistant secretary of the automobile club; Police Chief Raymond Van Buren, Mayor Frederick H. Stang and Earl Soper, superintendent of Kingston schools. The two little girls in the picture are Diane Woerner, 6, and Judy Wells, 4. Motorists are urged to drive with extra caution to save the lives of schoolchildren.

6 Mishaps In County On Holiday Nation's Death Toll Reaches 584

The Labor Day weekend in Ulster county was eventful but without fatality despite a sharp increase in the number of accidental deaths in New York state as compared with the same period last year.

The Associated Press reported 45 accidental deaths in the state against 28 last year. Thirty-two of these were highway fatalities compared to 20 a year ago.

As late reports trickled in from over the nation, an Associated Press tabulation covering the period from 6 p. m. (local time) Friday to midnight Monday showed there were at least 424 U. S. deaths during the long 78-hour weekend. There were 89 drownings and 71 deaths in a variety of accidents for an overall violent death toll of 584.

Estimate Is 480

The National Safety Council had estimated at least 480 persons would die in traffic mishaps. Midway through the holiday, when deaths were occurring at the rate of about five an hour, the council anticipated its dire forecast would be realized.

Six vehicular accidents in Ulster county involving person injuries were reported with three persons admitted to hospitals, not apparently in serious condition.

An automobile went out of control and plunged into the bed of a home in the hamlet of Ardena Sunday morning where four children were sleeping. Neither the driver nor the children were injured.

Killed by Lightning

A 28-year-old Queens man, a member of the New York city narcotics squad, was killed by lightning while playing golf at the James Baird state golf course just east of Poughkeepsie Sunday afternoon. Two companions were saved by artificial respiration.

Teenagers Apologize For Revolt in Jail

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 4 (AP)—Sixteen teen-age prisoners, who apologized for a passive weekend revolt, were back in their cells today and off bread-and-water diet.

The prisoners refused to enter their cells Sunday and Monday nights and slept without bedding on a corridor floor.

Jail officials said the rebellion came to light Sunday afternoon after the jail's Catholic chaplain inquired why the boys had refused to attend Mass.

Warden Van Rensselaer Taylor, who revoked privileges and ordered bread-and-water meals yesterday and this morning, said the boys later were "very apologetic."

President Nears Completion of Reelection Plans

Washington, Sept. 4 (AP)—President Eisenhower has just about completed plans for a streamlined re-election campaign slated to start in about ten days and take him into politically strategic areas.

The President worked on the blueprints with Republican national chairman Leonard W. Hall and other key aides for an hour and a half yesterday after the aides had spent the morning and early afternoon drafting recommendations at the White House.

Some of the plans Eisenhower approved are scheduled to be announced before the week's end. The drafters said the discussions dealt with all phases of the campaign—its itinerary, dates and the theme of major addresses.

Hall said several weeks ago the President would make five or six national-wide television and radio talks, some outside of Washington.

Eisenhower himself, at a news conference last Friday, again ruled out any barnstorming or "whistle stop" speeches. But he said he was not foreclosing the possibility of traveling into key areas—apart from the national television-radio series—for campaign addresses.

In advance of the strategy sessions, Eisenhower made public a Labor Day report which had political significance even though it made no mention of the campaign (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

Four Vehicles Figure In Broadway Collision

Three cars and a truck were involved in an accident at 3:14 a. m. Sunday on Broadway and O'Neil street.

According to the Kingston police report a 1956 tudor sedan driven by Joseph Provenzano, 32, of 27 Market street, Saugerties, was traveling north on Broadway when in collision with a 1950 truck owned by K & M Banana Company of Poughkeepsie and operated by Frederick Karl Koepfen, 37, of 118 Hooker avenue, Poughkeepsie. The K & M truck was traveling south on Broadway and turning left into O'Neil street at the time of the impact, police reported.

A 1950 sedan owned by Frank Martin Jr., of 54 Van Deusen street, which was parked at the curb in front of 632 Broadway was involved when a 1949 tudor sedan operated by Augustus A. Kirkner, 35, of 431 Seventh avenue, Troy, coming upon the scene of the accident struck the truck and Provenzano vehicle causing the truck to smash into the parked Martin car, police reported.

Provenzano was treated for contusions of the chest and left knee and his passenger, Miss Betty Panos, 28, of 3121 98th street, Jackson Heights, L. I., was taken to Benedictine Hospital where she was treated for contusions of the chest and left knee and laceration on the right eyebrow. She was discharged at 6 p. m. Monday.

Also injured was Clifford Van Kleeck, 27, of 477 Abel street, a passenger in the truck. He received cuts on his forehead.

According to the police the Provenzano vehicle had damage to the front end, right and left sides and right rear. The truck was damaged on the front end and right side, the parked vehicle was damaged on the left rear and the car driven by Kirkner showed extensive damage to the entire front end, police reported.

Koepfen, driver of the truck was arrested on the scene by Officers Francis Buchanan and Gilbert Gray on a charge of driving while intoxicated. He pleaded not guilty in city court this morning and received an adjournment for one week.

Youth Court Act Changes Are Proposed by Javits

New York, Sept. 4 (AP)—State Atty. Gen. Jacob K. Javits today proposed amendments to the new and controversial state youth court act.

In an address prepared for the 47th annual conference of mayors and other municipal officials of New York state, Javits said the law is entitled "to have the sympathetic understanding of citizens, rather than to be faced with an immediate drastic call for repeal."

Javits added: "I am the first to say that developments since it was passed show the act to need amendment, and I have no doubt that it will have amendment. Also, I feel that the act should not be precipitously applied. "But this is not at all unusual with a new law and a new program on a very trying subject which changes older patterns of procedure."

An abstract of Javits' remarks, as released by his office, gave this summary of one of his proposals for revisions of the act: "A conference of newspaper editors and legislative leaders should be called to consider a compromise solution that arrest and apprehension records of police departments prior to adjudication of youths as youthful offenders should specifically be made open to public inspection."

"The attorney general explained that (this) recommendation deals directly with the concern of some newspapers that the act prevents them from gaining proper access to reports on arrests and punishment of youths accused of crime."

Javits said in his text: "I believe in proper coverage by newspapers as a deterrent to crime and as an assurance of public interest in honest and effective law enforcement."

He also said that, in his opinion, newspapers "have shown a real sense of responsibility in many phases of the handling of juvenile delinquents, having, as is well known, imposed upon themselves a censorship in printing the names, addresses or pictures of children under 16 who are accused of a crime, unless it be a murder or manslaughter."

Javits also made these proposals for amendments: 1. The effective date of the act—Feb. 1, 1957—should be extended to give communities ample time to adjust themselves to it. Javits indicated an extension (Continued on Page 5, Col. 6)

Discussion Friendly, Is Report Tension Is Still Heavy Over Suez

Cairo, Egypt, Sept. 4 (AP)—President Nasser met today with his top advisers, presumably to frame his reply tonight to an 18-nation plan for international control of the Suez Canal.

Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies of Australia also was in consultation with members of his five-nation committee. The committee presented the majority plan of the London Suez conference to Nasser yesterday.

Expect Nasser to Talk

A committee spokesman said Menzies so far has done most of the talking but Nasser is expected to have his say at the evening conference. Nasser has rejected international control of the canal he seized July 26.

Nasser met with foreign minister Marmoud Fawzi and his No. 1 political adviser, Ali Sabry. Sabry was in London as an observer during the Suez conference that Egypt refused to attend.

Both Fawzi and Sabry have attended the two meetings Nasser has held with the Menzies mission.

The Australian legation was in contact with diplomatic representatives in Cairo of the 18 nations supporting the international control plan drafted by Secretary of State Dulles.

No Hostility

The Menzies committee spokesman took time to label as nonsense rumors afloat in Cairo that Menzies had handed Nasser an ultimatum.

"The atmosphere of the talks has been friendly with no sign of any hostility from either side," the spokesman said.

Despite the announced cordiality of the meetings, storm clouds still hung over Suez.

French and British military stores poured ashore at the British island base of Cyprus, 230 miles north of the Mediterranean entrance to the canal.

The French News Agency said France's national defense department had requisitioned 45 merchant ships for duty with the "Suez squadron" in event of trouble over the canal.

Says Forces Deployed

The commander of Egypt's army said his forces were "strategically" deployed to meet any situation.

Egypt's secret police arrested another British subject and charged him with spying. He (Continued on Page 5, Col. 3)

Record Job Report Expected on Monday

Washington, Sept. 4 (AP)—The government is expected to announce, probably next Monday, that during August the number of Americans holding jobs rose to a record 66,800,000 while the total unemployed dipped by several hundred thousand to the lowest point in nearly a year.

The Commerce and Labor departments today were working on a breakdown of the totals by industries, age groups, farm and nonfarm workers and the like. Officials said the report may be ready Friday but probably will come out next Monday.

Route 209 May Be Relocated for Link With Bridge

The possibility of relocating Route 209 from the vicinity of Hurley, bypassing the city to the west to serve the IBM plant and for use as a connecting link with the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge was outlined in a letter received by the city clerk's office from Thomas F. Fitzgerald, chief engineer of the Division of Construction, Department of Public Works.

The letter was in answer to one written by Deputy City Clerk Walter S. Foster on August 13 stating the action of the Common Council requesting further study on the Albany avenue section.

Mr. Fitzgerald said the department is making a study with view of relieving the situation. He said relocation of Route 209 (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

12 Negro Students Enroll Under Guard, Jeers Go Up

Clinton, Tenn., Sept. 4 (AP)—Nine of 12 negroes enrolled in Clinton high school reported for classes today and many of the 796 white pupils stayed away as militiamen, busy during the night quelling a mob at nearby Oliver Springs, patrolled this center of anti-integration tension.

While some of the white students lined the entrance jeering, six negro youths went into the school's front entrance just before the 8:30 a. m. opening bell. Three negro girls arrived by private car and entered via a side door.

"What are they going to do in school today by themselves," one of the white students yelled, indicating a boycott on the part of some of the whites. Many white school buses, usually filled with students standing, carried only a few today.

The comparatively quiet resumption of classes at the school, which integrated a week ago, was in sharp contrast to a tumultuous night in which a National Guard force raced to Oliver Springs to put down a gun-shooting mob.

National Guardsmen in jeeps circled the block around the school as the students started straggling up.

Bodies Recovered Of Mother, Child Floating in River

Bodies of Mrs. Lulia L. Stache, 23, of 48 Styvestand Drive, Bradley Village, town of Poughkeepsie, and her infant son, Kennedy, a year and seven months old, have been recovered from the Hudson river. Coroner Francis J. McCordle had rendered a verdict of suicide on the part of Mrs. Stache and homicide in the case of the child.

Last Friday the suburban car of Mrs. Stache was found parked on the west side of the Mid-Hudson bridge in a parking lot and a note found indicated she may have committed suicide by jumping from the bridge, carrying her infant son with her. Troopers organized a search party and a plane searched the water.

Sunday the body of Mrs. Stache was seen by James Perts, New Hamburg, and two friends, floating in the river a half mile north of the Milton railroad station. Joseph Periano of Poughkeepsie and a party of friends were cruising in the vicinity and towed the body to the old Highland ferry slip and State Police from Highland and Coroner McCordle were notified. The body was found about 7 p. m. Sunday.

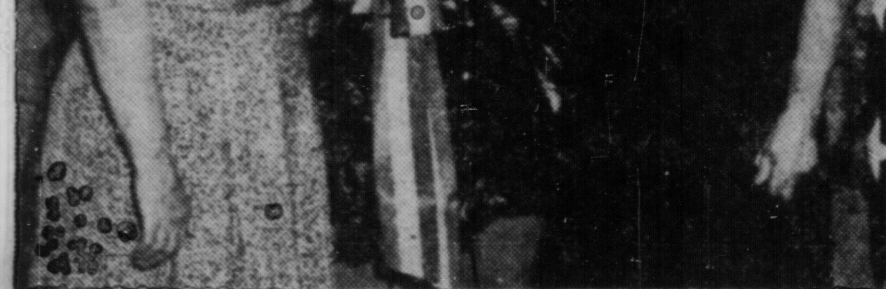

The body of Kenny was located about 8:30 a. m. Monday two miles south of the bridge on the west side of the river. Both bodies were badly decomposed. However they were identified by Paul Stache, father of Arthur Stache, who was notified of the finding of the two bodies. There was some question at first as to (Continued on Page 5, Col. 5) from the institution just after midnight.

Ulster Escapes

Assaulted at Convention
An 18-year-old Tivoli youth was assaulted by a group of youths of about his own age during a fire convention parade in that Dutchess county village Sunday. Two arrests have been made with the investigation continuing in the assault which reportedly resulted in a broken nose and other injuries to the victim.

Vester Grays, 39, of Clintonville, driver of the car which plunged through the walls of an Ardonia home about 8:15 a. m. Sunday, coming to a stop inside a bedroom where four children were asleep, was arrested by Highland state police on three charges—driving while intoxicated, unlicensed operator and inadequate brakes. He will be arraigned at 5 p. m. today before Justice of the Peace Charles Demsky of Plattkill.

Brakes Fail, Police Say
The owner of the vehicle, Robert Byrd of Clintonville, was arrested for permitting an unlicensed operator to drive and was fined $10 by Judge Demsky.

Trooper Charles Bundschuh said Grays was proceeding south on Route 44-55 in the hamlet when his brakes failed, the car plunging across an intersection and into a home occupied by the family of Michael Gallo of Ardonia.

The entire family was treated for shock by Dr. Virgil DeWitt of New Paltz. No injuries were reported.

Golf Course Tragedy
Killed on the golf course near Poughkeepsie was Cornelius O'Shea of Laurelton, Queens, a detective third grade with the New York city narcotics squad.

Millbrook state police reported that Mr. O'Shea was playing with three companions when a heavy rain and lightning storm suddenly struck about 3 p. m. just after they had driven golf balls from the tenth tee.

They took refuge under a tree, thinking they would wait out the storm and continue the game. The rain continued to fall so heavily, however, that they decided to return to the clubhouse nearby. One of the players, James D. Cucinell, 28, of Yonkers, went after the golf balls which had been driven into the tenth fairway while the other three players walked toward the clubhouse.

Suddenly a bolt of lightning struck—apparently a "direct hit"—the three men, according to troopers. Mr. O'Shea, who was walking in the middle, was hardest hit, although the other two were also knocked unconscious.

Vincent O'Reilly, 30, of Yonkers, and Jerome Edwards, 29, of Peekskill, were revived by artificial respiration. Both suffered severe burns of the feet. Mr. O'Reilly was admitted to St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie.

Fails to Respond
Mr. O'Shea failed to respond to resuscitation and was pronounced dead on arrival at the hospital.

He had been with the narcotics squad about two years, it was reported, and was recipient of a citation for shooting and killing two men in a gun duel in New York city.

Troopers from the Putnam valley station worked with Sgt. Samuel Crodelle of Millbrook state police at the scene.

The three escapees from the Cossack institution, none listed as dangerous, are John Cook, 20, Lockport, Henry Traulsen, 19, Prattville, and Lloyd Shaver, 17, of Watertown.

Roadblocks Established
Catskill state police said the three youths, clad in grey prison clothing, disappeared about 12:15 a. m. today. They were trustees of the institution and were reportedly milking cows at the time.

Troopers throughout the area have established roadblocks with "every available man out looking," it was reported.

The Tivoli youth, who reportedly suffered a broken nose and other injuries when he was attacked by a group of about five other young men of approximately his own age, is Nicholas White, Jr.

Arrested to date by Rhinebeck state police are Richard Monell, 19, Newburgh, who pleaded guilty to a charge of assault third degree and paid a fine of $50 when arraigned before Justice of the Peace Edith Smith of the town of Red Hook, and Donald A. Mahoney, 17, Poughkeepsie, fined $25 on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Mahoney was committed to the Dutchess county jail in lieu of fine.

Probe Still On
The investigation is reportedly still in progress. No reason was assigned for the attack.

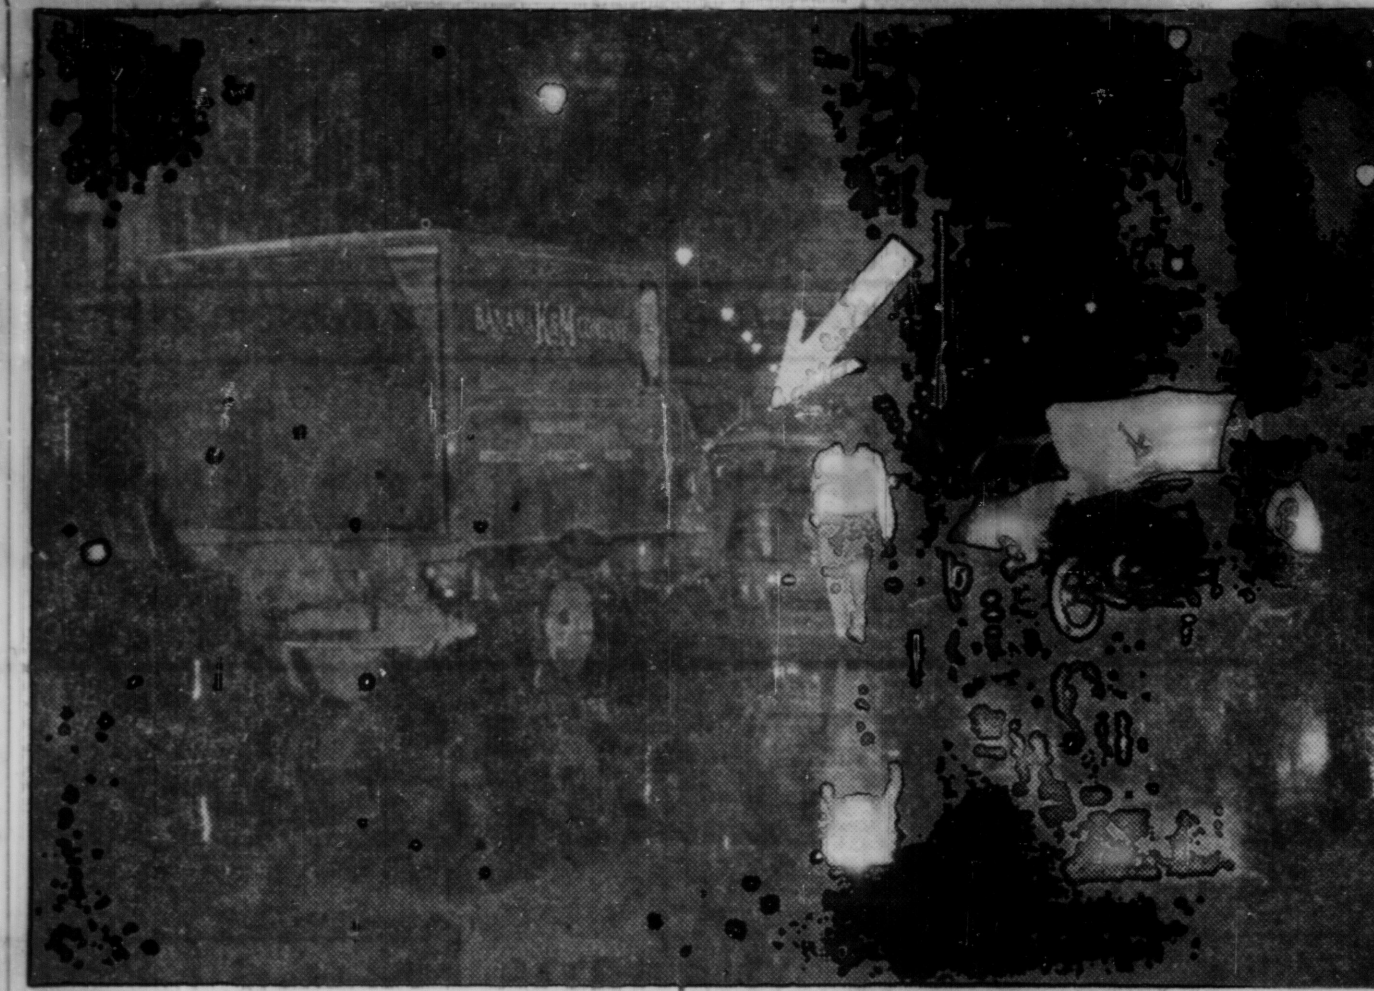

Joseph T. Martz, 20, of Poughkeepsie, who suffered injuries early Sunday morning when his car failed to make a curve on Route 9W just north of Marlborough, struck some guard rails and a tree, is reported in satisfactory condition at Vassar Bros. Hospital, Poughkeepsie.

Highland state police said Martz was proceeding north at the time. He was issued a summons charging "endangering speed" returnable before Justice of the Peace Fred Woodsey of Milton. Trooper Charles Bundschuh investigated.

Failed on Curve
A passenger in a car operated by Frank Villa of Brooklyn was treated at St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh, for injuries suffered when the vehicle failed to make a curve on Route 300 near Wallkill at 5 a. m. Monday, struck guard rails, plunged down an embankment and overturned.

She is Eve Gomez, 33, of the Bronx, who was treated for abrasions of the forehead and right posterior chest injuries, according to troopers.

Villa was arrested by Trooper Jack Miceli for "endangering speed) and paid a fine of $10 (suspended) when arraigned before Justice of the Peace Seth Lippincott of Wallkill.

Mrs. Harry Deutsch, 42, of Astoria, L. I., who suffered a slight laceration over her right eye and a swollen right ankle in a two-car collision at the intersection of Route 28 and the Thruway interchange just north of Kingston late Monday morning, told troopers she would see her own physician.

Thruway Collision
Troopers Raymond Kowalski and Harvey Miller said William Elwood, 18, of Andes, coming off the Thruway, had stopped for a red light at Route 28 when a 1952 sedan, operated by Harry Deutsch, 43, of Astoria, also coming off the Thruway, struck the Elwood car in the rear.

Deutsch was arrested on a charge of driving at an endangering speed, pleaded guilty when arraigned before Justice of the Peace Millard Davis of the town of Ulster and paid a fine of $15.

Roland Smith, 20, of Kerhonkson, suffered a laceration of the mouth when he fell asleep at the wheel of his 1948 sedan about 1:15 a. m. Sunday while proceeding west on Granite road near Kerhonkson, according to Troopers H. H. Ganss and Raymond Holden of the Ellenville state police.

Troopers said Smith, who was treated by his own doctor, fell asleep at the wheel, went off the road, striking two small and one large tree head-on.

Timothy Cooper, 14, of Ellenville, a passenger in a 1950 sedan operated by George Pfeiffer, 19, of Ellenville, suffered a laceration of the throat about 2:30 p. m. Monday when the car went out of control on Oak Ridge road about a quarter of a mile from Route 209.

Car Hits Tree
Trooper Robert Flynn of the Ellenville state police said Pfeiffer was traveling east downgrade when the car went out of control and hit a tree on the north side of the road head-on.

Pfeiffer, who suffered a laceration of the forehead, was arrested as an unsupervised learner. He will be arraigned at 7:30 p. m. Friday before Justice of the Peace Herbert Poppel of Kerhonkson.

Both youths were treated at the Ellenville Medical Center and released.

A total of eight dead and 30 injured were reported in the Albany metropolitan area during the long weekend.

Four Fatally Hurt
Four persons were killed and another critically injured in a mishap at Eagle Mills late Sunday night. Three were killed in an accident near Hudson Sunday afternoon and a Utica man was killed instantly Sunday on the Thruway near the Washing avenue interchange.

Critically injured in the two-car accident was Shirley Ripley, about 25, also of Troy.

Three members of a Bronx family were killed in a three-car collision near Hudson. They were Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Rose and their daughter, Lorraine, 19. Killed instantly in the Thruway mishap was Richard Jenkins, 22, Utica.

child and her 33-year-old mother, Eleanor.

Ullman said the best lead police have is a composite description given by shoppers and passerby of a stocky, little woman with a dark complexion. They said they saw such a person take a baby out of its carriage but thought nothing of it at the time.

Others said they saw such a woman walking across the store parking lot carrying a baby awkwardly.

Deputy Police Chief Francis Carrozza called attention to this tremendous police investigation would save the baby but an "outlet" so appropriate about leads in the case.

Frankly, we're both wrong, we started from the end, said Ullman. He was sure police have been placed to the public's help in the possibility someone will notice a previously childless woman with a baby.

Chicago Police Say Rats Chewed Child to Death

Chicago, Sept. 4 (AP)—The body of a 1-year-old girl was found today in her basement apartment and police said rats had chewed her to death.

The girl's two sisters, who slept in another bed in the same room, were unhurt. The children's parents were away overnight and the children were being cared for by neighbors.

Sharon Janis Ivey's body was found by her father, Edward, 35, a factory hand, on his return from a trip to Madison, Ala. He told police he went to Madison to pick up his two sons who spent the summer on his father's farm.

Ivey said he stopped at Pulaski, Tenn., to visit his wife's family and found his mother-in-law ill in a hospital. He telephoned his wife, Susie Mae, 26, in Chicago but she said she would stay with the girls and not go to Pulaski. Ivey left the boys in Pulaski and continued on to Chicago.

On his arrival, he told police, he learned his wife had changed her plans, left the children in the care of neighbors and had gone to Pulaski.

Ivey's landlord, Dalton Rogers, told police he had seen rats in the building at 1322 N. LaSalle St., near downtown Chicago, and on sidewalks in the neighborhood. Police said the child's entire body was scarred with bites.

The Iveys are white.

Police arrested Planthaber for speeding at 55 miles an hour on Foxhall avenue, driving without lights and for being an unlicensed operator. He was driving a motorcycle owned by Donald Planthaber, police reported.

Internationally Known Kingston Native Retires

DR. HARRY L. FISHER
An internationally noted native of Kingston, Dr. Harry L. Fisher now residing in Los Angeles, Calif., retired this week for the second time in his busy career.

At 71, an international authority on the chemistry of rubber, he was the 1954 president of the American Chemical Society and will complete three and one-half years as director of the $100,000 Tiangi rubber technology foundation in the University of Southern California School of Engineering.

First Retired in 1950
Dr. Fisher's first retirement at age 65 occurred in 1950 when he was director of organic research of U. S. Industrial Chemicals Inc., Stamford, Conn. He has just written his third book, "The Chemistry of Natural and Synthetic Rubbers," and is working in a southern California research laboratory on the possible creation of a new synthetic.

In a recent interview Dr. Fisher announced that Los Angeles is already second to Akron, O., as a rubber manufacturing center and is destined to be larger.

He has been predicting an automobile tire that would last 100,000 miles and would come in colors to match the cars. Dr. Fisher holds about 50 patents, chiefly on vulcanizing rubber without the use of sulfur and on methods of attaching rubber to metals.

Won Goodyear Medal
He won the Charles Goodyear Medal for outstanding achievement in the chemistry of rubber in 1949. This is one of the highest honors that the rubber division of the American Chemical Society can confer upon a scientist.

He also received the Modern Pioneer Award in 1940 from the National Association of Manufacturers and held the Edgar Marburg Lectureship of the American Society for Testing Materials in 1941.

His father was a railroad engineer in his native Kingston where Dr. Fisher was the second in a family of five boys. He said he decided upon a scientific career at the age of nine when he began to study the skeleton of a mouse he had trapped.

Violence Continues

Nicosia, Cyprus, Sept. 4 (AP)—A British soldier was wounded and a Cypriot policeman narrowly missed assassination by time bomb on Cyprus today. The campaign of violence against British rule showed no sign of letup as French and British military supplies poured ashore in a buildup to meet any crisis over the Suez Canal. The soldier was shot down in a crowded market place in the east coast port of Larnaca, about 25 miles southwest of where military stores were being unloaded at Famagusta.

14 Rebels Slain

Algiers, Algeria, Sept. 4 (AP)—French military headquarters said today that French soldiers killed 14 Algerian nationalist rebels in an air-ground operation on Mt. Bou Sessou, about 125 miles southeast of Constantine. French losses were put at one killed and several wounded in the weekend battle. The French said they captured a number of guns and ammunition. Six French soldiers were wounded near Guelma by a grenade tossed by an Arab Nationalist.

Rangers on Hand

Mansfield, Tex., Sept. 4 (AP)—Six Texas Rangers and a crowd of 75 men arrived at the same time today as Mansfield High School, where mobs prevented Negroes from registering last Thursday and Friday. The school opened today for the first time since Friday. With the Texas Rangers were Sheriff Harlon Wright and a deputy. The officers banned cars and trucks driven by the crowd from parking within 300 feet of the school building.

Methodists Say Segregation Hurts America Abroad

Lake Junaluska, N. C., Sept. 3 (AP)—Interviews with delegates from overseas at the world Methodist conference here indicate that segregation troubles, blown up by the Communists, have caused America to lose prestige in the world.

Their Answers

Delegates who were asked how foreign people feel about the United States segregation problem also gave answers yesterday which indicated:

1. The church ought to take a firmer stand and assume more of a role of leadership.
2. Most foreigners are in accord with the Supreme Court decision outlawing racial segregation in public schools.
3. Many foreigners have renewed faith in United States democracy because of the court decision and the fact that this nation is making an effort to solve the problem.

Hiroshi Shimmi, a Japanese minister, said the race question is causing a dislike of American foreign policy in some lands because segregation "is a strong weapon in the hands of those who are enemies of the United States."

Recommends Action

The Rev. C. C. Ponde, head of a Methodist Church district in India, said he feels "very strongly" that the church, by action and not by agitation, ought to stand up for integration "even if it means a loss of prestige and revenue."

Francisco Cepeda and Eduardo Guerra, Mexican delegates, said the Mexican people "don't sympathize with discrimination." The two said churches in the United States "must find a way to convince the people" that segregation is wrong.

Methodist Bishop Sante Uberto Barbiera of Buenos Aires, Argentina, told the conference in a speech yesterday that the power of the Roman Catholic Church in Latin America is "totalitarian, exclusive and ruthless."

Barbiera, one of the six presidents of the Interdenominational World Council of Churches, added:

"For more than three centuries no other Christian confession was admitted in Latin America, and no Protestant was tolerated."

However, he said: "I am happy to say that we now have a pretty fair representation in the conference of Latin American Methodists."

The Rev. C. Benson Birmingham, England, a secretary of the World Methodist Council, deplored what he described as a tendency to reduce the number of Wesley hymns in succeeding books.

CYNICAL, INHUMAN BRUTALITY

One must suspect that the Communists have some sort of a timetable which regularly calls for the shooting down of American patrol aircraft. They have done it again, this time sending 16 U. S. crewmen into the sea off the China coast.

Out of the countless routine patrol missions flown by our planes in areas not far from Communist territory or waters, it is always possible, of course, that one or another craft might occasionally stray into hostile zones.

But the great bulk of the evidence indicates over the years that the planes shot down by both the Chinese and the Russians have actually been attacked over international waters. In the current instance the navy insists the patrol plane was properly staying clear of Chinese areas.

These assaults naturally are an old story by now, as are the reasons for them. This is the Reds' way of flexing their military muscles for the benefit of the home citizenry, the frightened fence-sitters in the world outside, and the western powers themselves.

Proof of that comes easily to hand in this case. The United States government had no original evidence showing the identity of the attacking aircraft. Had the Chinese simply been legitimately concerned with their own protection, they would have kept quiet and let us guess.

But they wanted everybody to know who perpetrated the attack, for that is the whole point of it. So they quickly owned up.

By these periodic assaults they hope to keep our patrol planes at more than arms' length from their soil. They have an understandable fear of sneak observation sprays scouting airfields and other installations.

More than this, they like to reassure the oppressed Communist masses at home that there is a constant outside threat of danger which they are acting steadily to meet. By stimulating this fiction they hope always to make heavy concentration on arms production more palatable to the people.

Finally, they believe that if they "strut their stuff" before the uncommitted millions of Asians they may convince them that communism is the bandwagon and they ought to hop on before it's too late.

The game is old and tired and cynical. It ought not to fool anybody any more, not even the gullible leaders and intellectuals of India.

We have seen another example of what India likes to call the "new China," a nation which is arrogantly demanding a larger and larger place in the world community.

The only thing new about it is its weapons. And they will never earn Red China even the minor status in a family of nations which seeks peace above all.

CASE SOLVED

The finding of the body of the kidnaped baby Peter Weinberger means the end of the slim hope which must have persisted in the hearts of the parents during the anxious weeks. The nation which followed the case with horror offers its deep sympathy to the bereaved father and mother.

The fact that the FBI was able to crack the case must be slim consolation to Mr. and Mrs. Weinberger in view of their personal tragedy. But the prompt and efficient manner in which the federal agents worked deserves to be commended. They employed modern methods of scientific investigation with a high degree of skill. It was an analysis of the handwriting on the ransom notes that led to a solution.

Kidnaping is one of the most heartless crimes. Only a criminal devoid of ordinary human feelings could be guilty of parting a child from its parents. The knowledge that kidnapings will be solved, that kidnapers will be brought to justice, may help to deter the twisted types from attempting such crimes. To this end the FBI has done a remarkable job throughout the years.

Summer ends with Labor Day, it is said. If only the mosquitoes knew!

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
MacARTHUR ON TAXES

General Douglas MacArthur in his role of Chairman of the Board of the Sperry Rand Corporation delivered an address which because of its limited purpose and locale passed unnoticed. MacArthur's address was more like that of a British board chairman who often uses such an occasion to speak of subjects which interest him and which may be of public moment. On this occasion, General MacArthur commented on taxes and what he said seems to be of value in the record:

"... In the lexicon of government there is no more grim and pertinent aphorism than Chief Justice John Marshall's warning as early as 1819 that the power to tax includes the power to destroy. Indeed, this is the weapon that Karl Marx declared was the vital one to displace the system of free enterprise—the system on which our nation was founded—the system which has made us the most prosperous people of all history. Reasonable taxation is of course an essential of government, but when taxation is used as a social regulator it becomes a menace to freedom. When its rate is so excessive that men work month after month with all that they can earn going to government, it amounts almost to forced labor. It practically reduces them for protracted periods to something akin to involuntary servitude. It is an unwarranted arbitrariness that a handful of men, centered in government, largely bureaucratic not elected, can spend the proceeds of toil and labor to greater advantage than he who creates the money. Its excessive application can reduce free men to serfdom, can destroy initiative, absorb the capitalist system and level representative government to Sovietism."

The two "open" conventions at Chicago and San Francisco which adopted platforms that are so much like each other in essence that there is little quarrel in the country over fundamentals offer little hope to the American citizen who would like to save a few dollars, honestly earned and honestly set aside, for his own later years or for his progeny to inherit. We are living in the era of Keynesian economics and the two parties of moderation plan to do nothing to help restore morality to a nation which is suffering from the psychotic ingenuity of bearing the income tax return. Whereas business men can find tax sanctuaries abroad, the ordinary citizen can only hope that his deductions will help him over a bad year and that he will not run up against a "field man" who enjoys making miserable anyone who earns more than he does. One once told me, when I complained of his general attitude, that I ought to follow his example: earn little and have no problems.

Not only is the tax punitive but in recent years it is being collected punitively, the object, of course, being to operate a government agency efficiently even if it drives the nation to Poughkeepsie in the United States. It is significant that the man who is most ardently and diligently attacking the income tax system is T. Coleman Andrews who was the collector of the tax during most of the Eisenhower Administration and who resigned after he became convinced that his was a foul institution, a weapon for the destruction of American traditional life. MacArthur says of it:

"It has been the cause of more bloody revolutions in the history of government than any other one provocation. It precipitated our own Revolution which resulted in the founding of the United States of America. The Boston Tea Party is still symbolic. The Biblical story of Christ's repudiation and expulsion of the tax tyrants from the temple is still a warning."

It is possible that some day, Americans will have another Boston Tea Party but that can only happen when the dollar has sunk so low in purchasing power as really to pinch most of the people. It is used to be that the High Cost of Living stirred anger, but enough of our citizens are narcotized by subsidies and escalator clauses to satisfy them for the moment. Increasing government subsidies for all organized pressure groups will not help those who receive fixed salaries, such as school teachers, policemen and firemen. In such an inflation as we have now, the white collar class suffers most and those who have the means and know how to speculate benefit most. It is not a sound situation.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.
THE CONSTITUTIONALLY INADEQUATE PATIENT

The practice of many physicians is bound to include many of the so-called constitutionally inadequate personalities. They are often, but not always, females between the ages of 20 and 50 and their chief complaints are multiple and usually have existed as long as they can remember. They are clearly in no acute distress, but just as clearly not happy. The fact is that the patient is unable or inadequate to stand alone. She must depend. If she does not have a doctor to depend on, she will resort to drugs or quacks. If this patient does not become the victim of multiple surgery, hypnosis (sleeping pills), narcotics (drugs inducing sleep and relieving pain) or alcohol, she will be bothersome but will live more successfully than any other incurable.

In an article on the management of such patients by Dr. Hugh A. Matthews in "Post Graduate Medicine," we are given some of the characteristics of the constitutionally inadequate patient.

Head: Headaches have been killing her all her life. These are usually in the back of the head, often with drawing over the scalp. All the time the patient, an aspirin will give relief for just a few minutes. Teeth and tonsils usually have been removed due to "source of infection." Sometimes spots before the eyes are disturbing and tinted glasses may be worn. Weird noises in the head are not infrequent. The throat is a site of choking as if a band were around the throat or something in the throat will not go down. She has consulted at least three ear, nose and throat specialists who could find nothing wrong. She has lost confidence in them.

Heart: The patient's heart races and stops and scares her to death. She smothers at bedtime, more especially when her husband is at home. She has pain over her heart which may at times extend over her entire left side including the left side of her face. She almost always complains of her blood pressure and has lost confidence in heart doctors.

Chest: She has had no chronic cough but she has bouts of terrible coughing, usually when her husband has taken a drink. At least on one occasion she has spat up a lot of red blood—in fact, a little red streak on some sputum which may have been cough syrup. Chest films have been negative repeatedly. She emphatically believes the chest X-rays do not show everything.

Stomach and Intestines: Digestion is poor, bloating common, heartburn frequent. She either cannot eat a bit or she cannot stop eating. She has to take "something" for her bowels; she has hard stools or her movements are frequent and have some slime on them. Pain in the abdomen is always all over, never at one particular point where one finger can be pointed. Complete stomach and intestinal X-rays have shown nothing so she has lost confidence in stomach specialists.

As we can realize, all these symptoms and feelings are the way the patient describes herself to the physician. Tomorrow we will try to learn a little more about such patients. What we must realize about such persons is that they are most often incurably sick in that nothing can be done to truly help them. They are by nature inadequate, unable to face life and its situations without some help from someone.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington, (NEA)—Now is the time when candidates for Congress—Republican candidates that is—are showing off letters they got from President Eisenhower, telling them what great statesmen they are and how much they helped him during the last session.

Here's a sample letter made public by Rep. Jerry Ford, of Grand Rapids, Mich.:

"Now that the session is over, I should feel remiss if I failed to express to you my deep appreciation of your loyal support and of the many key measures we have advanced in the public good. I am especially aware of the extraordinary amount of time and energy you devoted to the Committee on Appropriations in areas affecting the security of our country. For this I am grateful indeed. I feel that you are the kind of congressman our nation needs in Washington ... etc."

"Dwight D. Eisenhower." The letters are changed to fit each congressman's activities.

WASHINGTON HOSTESSES are ecstatic over having the headquarters of both presidential candidates in the capital for the campaign. Four years ago Eisenhower had headquarters in New York and Stevenson holed up in Springfield, Ill. Having them both in Washington is expected to spark up an otherwise dull fall social season. Most of the party givers and goers here think that Stevenson's staff will bring a lot of new Ivy League tone to the cocktail circuit.

REPUBLICAN National Committee now has its national radio and television time pretty well blocked out for the Eisenhower campaign. Fourteen evening programs have been booked. They're tentatively scheduled as follows:

September 19 and 25, kickoff. October 1, 4, 9, 12, 16, 17, 22, 24, 26 and 30. Windup on November 1 and 3. Election is November 6.

THE BIG STRATEGY meeting which Democratic candidates Stevenson and Kefauver held at Santa Fe, N.M., was really a tribute to Sen. Clinton Anderson of that state. He and Stevenson are old friends. Anderson has insisted all along that Stevenson would be nominated on the first ballot.

If Stevenson wins, Sen. Anderson could probably get the job of Atomic Energy Commission chairman, if he wants it. At least Anderson would have enough influence to name the successor to Chairman Lewis Strauss.

FOREIGN EMBASSY officials in Washington who followed the Republican convention say that Harold Stassen wrecked his usefulness as an effective "secretary for peace and disarmament."

"How can he be taken seriously about anything," comments one diplomat, "the way he first opposed, then seconded the nomination of Vice President Nixon? Any foreign official would be suspicious that Mr. Stassen would suddenly begin advocating production of hydrogen bombs the day after he might promise to ban their use."

THIS IS THE WAY one prominent Irishman in Washington analyzed young Sen. Jack Kennedy's showing in the Democratic vice-presidential race at Chicago:

"At least there's a chance that we'll be accepted in American political society as respectable. For years and years we've had to live down the Irish political bosses in America—Curly in Boston, Flynn in New York, Hague in Jersey City—and their corrupt machines."

"In Jack Kennedy we have a decent and clean, Irishman who has gone almost to the top, and it has given us a tremendous lift for our inferiority complexes."

NEWEST TELEPHONE gimmick of the congressional campaign is being used by Democrat John Foley, who's running against the incumbent GOP Rep. DeWitt Hyde. To get in touch with Foley's headquarters, all you have to do is dial WIN IN 56. Actually, this is the number Wisconsin 6-4656.

Foley's campaign manager George Payne thought up the idea and persuaded the telephone company to list the number for the campaign.

MRS. HUBERT HUMPHREY, wife of the Minnesota senator, took her husband's vice-presidential campaign setback philosophically.

"That's one of the things a wife whose husband is in politics has to learn," she says. "And I like being the wife of a senator."

Sen. Humphrey, who got caught in the desperate stop-Kefauver drive that failed, doesn't feel to bad about the result, either.

"One of the pleasant things about it all," he says, "was finding out how many friends I had that I didn't know I had before."

People expect me to be eloquent and frankly it embarrasses me. It's an awfully tall shadow in which I must stand.

The idea that people vote on the basis of religion is greatly exaggerated.

—New York's Mayor Robert Wagner, a Catholic.

He's doing the best he can. People have the right to criticize. I refuse to worry about it.

Questions—Answers

Q—In reference to civilian defense, what is "Conelrad"?

A—Conelrad is the emergency communications system. Commercial radio and television stations suspend regular broadcasts and substitute civil defense announcements.

Q—What are baby lions called?

A—Cubs or whelps.

Q—For how long will corn and wheat seeds keep?

A—Two-year-old corn germinates readily, but if corn is kept for three or four years its chances of sprouting are slight. Wheat has germinated after 30 years.

Accidents on farms cost the American people about one and one half billion dollars annually.

Both Parties Held Hostile To Jefferson's Principles

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Sept. 4 — Appropos of the recent decision of the Republican headquarters here to revert to their custom of a few decades ago in referring to their opponents as "the Democrat party"—instead of "Democratic"—this colloquy is being quoted in the political corridors hereabouts:

Question: "When does a Democrat tick?"

Answer: When he is an old-fashioned Republican."

Time for Question

Maybe the time has come to question whether either of the parties is sticking to history. For whether the Democrats have a right to call their party "Democratic" and the Republicans may properly call theirs "Republican" depends in one sense on whether both groups are willing unequivocally to champion the main doctrine, namely "states' rights" espoused by Thomas Jefferson, father of "the Democratic-Republican party." It was thus known from 1793 to 1828 when the word "Republican" was dropped. Jefferson in his official documents, had always leaned toward the word "Republican" rather than "Democratic." Professor Malcolm Moos, of Johns Hopkins, in his new book entitled "The Republicans: A History of Their Party," says:

"In his celebrated editorial piece of June 16, 1854, 'Party Names and Public Duty,' Horace Greeley (editor of The New York Tribune) urged the title that Jefferson had given to his followers in 1800 and that the party of Henry Clay had taken in 1831—The National Republicans."

"Unquestionably the name of Jefferson struck a highly responsive chord with these neophyte Republicans of the early 1850s. After the slaveholders captured the Democratic party in 1844, mention of the author of the Declaration of Independence began to be soft-pedaled by the Democrats. And it was not really until 1896, when the Democratic platform reactivated the Jeffersonian tradition under the leadership of William Jennings Bryan, that the sage of Monticello was again championed with great vigor."

"The names of both Jefferson and Washington appeared in the first Republican platform of 1856, and on the eve of the Presidential election year 1860, Abraham Lincoln declared that the 'principles of Jefferson are the definitions and axioms of a free society.'"

Bowles Quoted

Chester Bowles, former Democratic Governor of Connecticut, in a recently published book called "American Politics in a Revolutionary World," speaks of this early use of the name "Republican" by Thomas Jefferson. Mr. Bowles writes:

"The majority consensus, which developed out of these pressures and conflicts, supported the development of a Federal government adequate to its growing responsibilities, but insisted that it be firmly rooted in democratic principles. Its political instrument was the Republican party, later to change its name to Democratic. In 1800, it was swept into power with Jefferson by a smashing popular majority."

"Despite the bitter opposition he had faced from the conservative-minded Federalists, Jefferson sensed the wide scope of the underlying agreement that brought about his victory. 'We are all Republicans, we are all Federalists' he said in his inaugural."

Neither of the two authors quoted above emphasizes, however, the sacrifice of Constitutional principle made by both parties for the sake of expediency. For there has been a battle going on within each party on ideological grounds from the very beginning of the 'Republic."

Against Master State

The struggle to keep the government from taking over the economic life of the individual and creating a master state has been continuous for decades. The widespread impression that one group or faction or party has wanted progress and the other has preferred stagnation is an over-simplification. The fight always has been against encroachment—upon individual freedom through reckless experimentation. It was Ralph Waldo Emerson who in his "Essay on Politics" more than a hundred years ago wrote in effect: "What a pity that one party today has all the ideas and the other party is the only one that knows how to make them work."

This may explain the improvements claimed by the Republican party of today in making practical some of the New Deal reforms.

Today neither party can convincingly call itself the party of Jefferson, and neither today can accurately be called "democratic" with a small "d," for each has abandoned the basic principles of Thomas Jefferson.

Party Similarities

Both party leaderships nowadays believe in a centralized government with Federal control of education, though they often deny such a purpose. Both believe in superseding state laws whenever political expediency or the rewards from a pressure group dictate such a course. Both believe in Federal control of business and of employer-employee relations.

Within each party, of course, there is dissent against such Federalization, and a cry to uphold the thesis of Jefferson that the best government is the one that interferes the least with the rights of the citizen. But the dissenters are a small minority. As the mistakes of a centralized government multiply, a new "consensus" or a majority coalition may some day recover the ground lost in the last four decades through abrogation of Constitutional rights and disregard of the principles of Thomas Jefferson.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

San Francisco, Sept. 2.—Father Edward A. Keller's little book, entitled "The Case For The Right To Work Laws: a defense of voluntary unionism," contains some thoughts on this ferocious topic by Father John E. Coogan, S. J., of Detroit University. This book has suffered the common fate of writings which defend the rights of men to stand aloof from immoral, even criminal, conspiracies against the laws and the rights of others. It has been almost silenced.

Sister Mary Margaret Patricia, the daughter of the late Senator Pat McCarran, of Nevada, an instructor at the college of Holy Names in Oakland, Cal., has 15 copies which are used in her class. She maintains that she has academic freedom but confirms a report that her new book on creeping socialism, entitled "The Fabian Transmission," will be published anonymously. Her earlier study, a master-work, called "Fabianism in the Political Life of Britain," brought her into notoriety when Congressman Wayne Hayes, of Ohio, insinuated in hearings of the Reece committee investigating tax-free foundations, that she had some been the beneficiary of corrupt procedure in winning her degree of doctor of philosophy from Catholic University, in Washington.

For some time thereafter, Sister Mary Margaret Patricia was placed in "hibernation," as she put it.

This is a roundabout way to a sensitive subject which Father Coogan frankly confronts in a letter to me. That subject is the personal bitterness, which this controversy has engendered among some Catholic priests.

"I am glad my right to work article gave you a little additional material in your fight against labor union abuse," Father Coogan wrote on Aug. 15. "I conclude from your column that it was only in Fr. Keller's book that you had run upon my article. I sent a copy of the article about eight months ago but I suppose you got tons of such things. (I was in Italy at the time and did not get this brochure.) However, I am sending you a copy, because you may find some usable things that Fr. Keller did not reprint."

"I would suggest that you make use of that 1950 pastoral of the bishops and archbishops of the Quebec Civil Province,

How damaging their authority is to the sort of labor union we have in the U. S. A. is suggested by the absolute unwillingness of the so-called labor priests to even refer to the pastoral's criticism of secular unionism. In the matter of the labor unions, I wrote an article for America (the national magazine of Fr. Coogan's own Jesuit order) nearly five years ago, that infuriated the local labor priests. The article had to do with the refusal of the Burroughs employees to join a union. The editor of our archdiocesan Catholic paper declared in the center of his front page that I had written "in complete disregard of Catholic social principles." As yet he has not been able to show these principles.

"However, I am afraid I do not go as far as you do, although in that article, the editor of the local Catholic paper said my description of local industrial conditions 'out-Peglered Pegler.'"

"With every good wish to you in your work and days, I am, sincerely yours."

Walter Trohan, the chief of the Washington Bureau of the Chicago Tribune, an alumnus and trustee of Notre Dame University, where Father Keller is a teacher, told me in Chicago during the Democratic convention that Father Keller was shunned by other priests at Notre Dame for writing this book.

He said also that Ave Maria, an official publication of the university, had ignored it. It is noteworthy here that Notre Dame conferred its highest moral recognition on George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, although he owes his political rise to a rigged election arranged by Joe Ryan whom he has now damned as a crook and notwithstanding his own failure ever to explain his secret pilgrimage to Sing Sing to consult Joe Fay, one of the worst criminals in union history who was denounced by the court as "a betrayer of labor," Meany well knew that Fay had betrayed labor and the "labor priests," referred to by Father Coogan, well knew the same facts.

The publisher of Father Keller's book is the Heritage Foundation, 75 Wacker Drive, Chicago.

Forrestal was interested in learning was the extent of the demoralization among the Chinese Nationalists, the extent of the corruption and matters of that kind," he said.

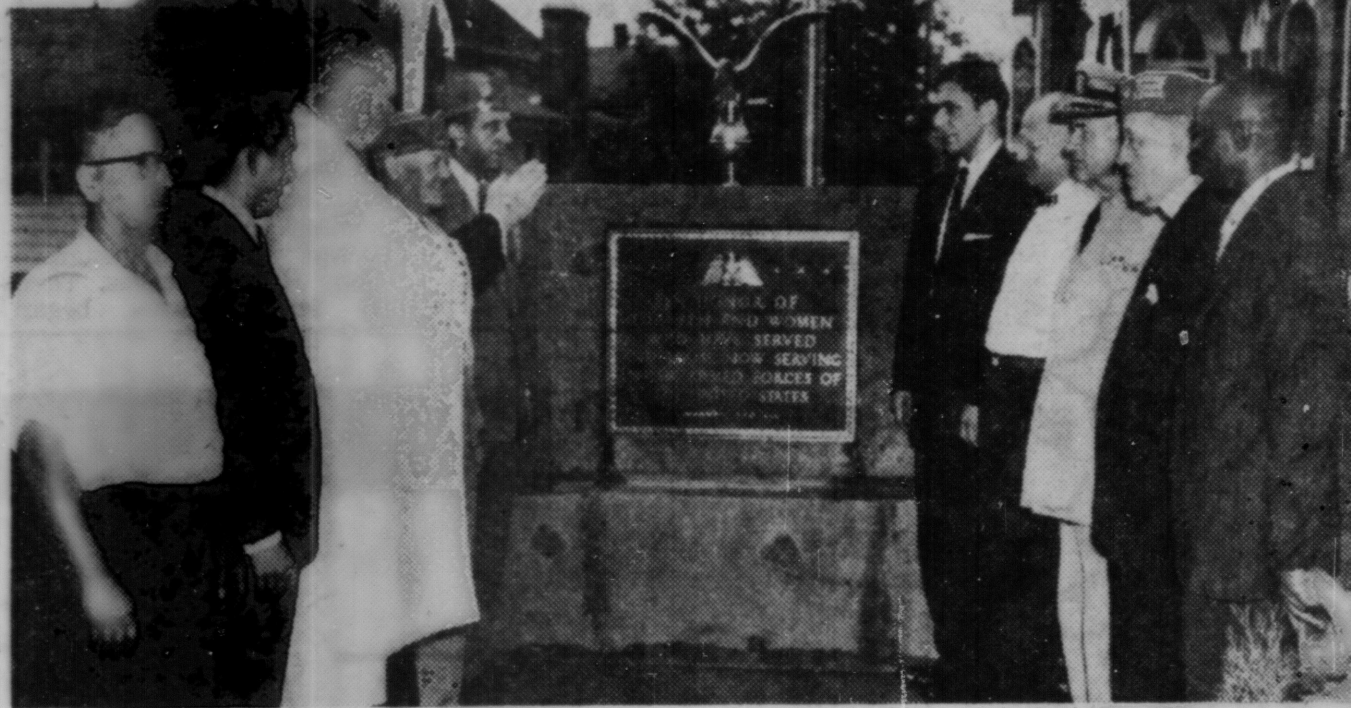

"I had had several talks with this official previously, and while we had mentioned these matters, my principal remarks to him were the exposition of my thoughts on the ways in which we could help the Nationalist government of China to better its chances in the war against the Communists and thereby better its chances of survival.

"Naturally I was completely perplexed when I was informed that Secretary of Defense Forrestal was not at all interested in this phase of my remarks."

Nasser Readies

was the fourth Briton under arrest.

In Paris, the Suez Canal Co., operator of the canal before Nasser seized it, said in a statement it had ordered its pilots and other employees to stay on the job during the current Cairo talks.

A brief statement said company employees—presumably non-Egyptian—were now on the job "against their desires." It left the implication that failure of the Menzies mission might spell new instructions to the 525 non-Egyptian employees to quit.

NATO Powers Assemble

The North Atlantic Treaty organization's permanent council was assembling in Paris for the opening of a conference on the Suez crisis.

The importance attached to the meeting was underscored by the presence of four foreign ministers. The council is made up of NATO power representatives below foreign minister rank.

Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd of Britain will present the results of the London Suez conference and the talks in Cairo. Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson of Canada, and Foreign Ministers Christian Pineau of France and Paul-Henri Spaak of Belgium also are on hand. Pineau advocates strong action if the Menzies mission fails.

While Nasser has balked at international control, hope has been expressed the Menzies mission talks may turn up the basis for negotiations leading to a compromise.

The committee met with Nasser and his aides twice yesterday for a total of an hour and 40 minutes. Menzies said he did all the talking.

He presented the plan approved by 18 of the 22 nations at the London conference, providing for creation of an international board, including Egypt, to run the canal joining the Mediterranean and Red Sea.

May Last All Week

Nasser was in smiling good humor. Menzies also gave an impression of cautious optimism. U. S. delegate Loy Henderson, when he was asked how the negotiations were going, said: "I look happy, don't I?"

Menzies said he expected the closed-doors talks to last through the week.

Other nations on the committee are Iran, Ethiopia and Sweden.

Nasser said earlier he saw room for compromise in President Eisenhower's latest statement Friday affirming Egyptian sovereignty over the Suez Canal but insisting that it be kept open to international shipping. Nasser maintains that internationalization of the canal would infringe his country's sovereignty, but he has offered to guarantee unimpeded passage through it to all nations.

talked briefly to the pupils congregated outside. He suggested they go to their classes.

Asst. athletic coach Ronald Gust joined Henry. He told the pupils "I think we ought to go to school." About 20 boys followed him in.

School officials later estimated attendance at about 50 per cent. A bullet-spattered riot broke out in Oliver Springs, 12 miles southwest of here, last night after dynamite blasts were set off in the little village's negro residential section, but Clinton marked its first night of peace in eight days.

Anderson County Sheriff Glad Woodward said a white mob member was wounded by a negro during the riotous eruption after an unfounded rumor spread that the Oliver Springs schools would be integrated today.

A state highway patrol car was fired on at a highway road block, but nobody was hurt. An earlier report that the bullet had wounded a deputy sheriff proved erroneous.

Eighty of the 633 national guardsmen and two of the ten tanks stationed here were moved out to Oliver Springs early today to quell the new riot. They were sent by Adj. Gen. Joe Henry, in charge of the militia force here.

And near Dayton, 75 miles to the south, five men attacked two guardsmen who were driving to drill. They knifed one of the guardsmen, Garland Pugh 23, of Sale Creek, Tenn., when Pugh told them he would go to Clinton if ordered to.

In Nashville, Gov. Frank Clement promptly offered a $5,000 reward to find the attackers and five men were arrested in the case in the nearby soddy area early today.

A small but ominous incident, indicative of the anti-integration resentment boiling up in east

Bodies Recovered

Identification since the clothing worn by Mrs. Stache did not correspond with that on the body found. This was dispelled when her father-in-law viewed the body. She was wearing green slacks and a plaid blouse.

The husband, Arthur Stache, is employed by IBM at Poughkeepsie and had resided in the Poughkeepsie area about two years. He had formerly resided in the Long Island area.

A note found in the parked vehicle addressed to Mr. Stache, stated Mrs. Stache believed she was physically and mentally ill and was despondent and that suicide was the "only way out."

Cause of death was given as "apparent drowning." Both bodies were removed to the McCordle Funeral Home here for a routine examination.

Javits Denies Red Ties

New York, Sept. 4 (AP)—State Atty. Gen. Jacob J. Javits, a leading contender for the GOP nomination for U. S. senator, today denied he had ever associated with Communists. Javits termed as "political assassination" rumors linking him with Communists. Javits said the rumors originated with Jay Sourwine, former staff member of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee. Sourwine, seeking the Democratic senatorial nomination in Nevada, has said there is evidence depicting Javits as "a protégé of important Communists who helped push him up the political ladder."

Malaria Decreases

There were some four million cases of malaria a year in southern Europe until DDT spray was introduced following World War 2. Now, there are an estimated 10,000 cases a year.

Tennessee as more schools prepared to open, occurred in Knoxville.

There a group of white boys who had heard a rumor that 19 negroes would try to enter Rule High School erected a tombstone on the school grounds with the legend:

"What nigger's next?" But attention returned this morning to Clinton where the school opened its doors (at 8:30 EST) after the long holiday weekend with the dozen negroes over whom the disorders began still enrolled among its 796 whites.

Youth Court

sion of a year might be desirable.

2. The coverage of the act should be cut down to eliminate violations of municipal ordinances as well as most traffic misdemeanors. Javits said he made this recommendation because the "specialized procedures of the new youth court act need not be encumbered with the volume of cases resulting from the need to arraign youthful violators of municipal ordinances or traffic laws in the youth court."

Javits said: "The reason for the Youth Court Act was that we had an emergency in youth crime upon which we were not making adequate progress and that this emergency was enormously accelerated by the repetition of offenses—recidivism—showing that there must be some serious defects in our correctional and rehabilitative procedures."

"It is very difficult to obtain reliable data on recidivism, but the best available recent figures show that approximately one-fifth—or roughly 20 per cent—of those appearing in children's courts of New York state have had previous court appearances. A check on adult felons showed that a like number—approximately 20 per cent—had children's court records as delinquents. The Youth Court Act is an effort to deal with this problem . . ."

More than 500 officials from the 300-odd incorporated communities in the state were expected to attend the three-day meeting starting today.

First item on today's program was a report by the conference president, Mayor James J. Crowley of Salamanca, who will be succeeded by Mayor Donald E. Slocum of Johnson City at the close of the conference.

Crowley, a Democrat serving his third two-year term as mayor, said on arriving here for the conference that business conditions in his municipality are good.

Similar reports came from a number of other mayors interviewed.

Among the mayors reached for interviews, reports of economic dissatisfaction came from chief executives in some rural areas.

Mayor Edward Turchen of Florida said onion prices are very low and some farmers have had to plow under their lettuce crops.

Mayor Anthony Dibenio of Maybrook reported farmers in his section are restive over milk prices.

SWEETIE PIE

By Nadine Seltzer

"Sweetie Pie, tell the nice man it was you who whistled!"

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

Painting pictures in oils is no longer a mystery to the general public. One need not go to learn the mystery of stretching a canvas or preparing one for painting. Today one can buy a 'kit' and if the directions are followed carefully one can have a presentable oil painting in a matter of hours. In that way one can acquire a love and understanding for oil painting.

I wonder how many art lovers know that right here in Kingston, in our Senate House Museum we have paintings of John Vanderlyn, our own Kingston born artist who died in 1852 and whose portraits are becoming more valuable as time goes on. There are many stories on John Vanderlyn, our historical and portrait painter as to how he got his start in art. For one thing, it runs in his family, going back to his grandfather, Pieter Vander Lyn, a descendant of early Dutch family of Manhattan and a well-known painter in his own right.

It is said, John went to the old Kingston Academy until he was 16 years old, after school he worked in a blacksmith shop and also helped a wagon painter, where it is said, he met Aaron Burr who sent him to Paris for 5 years to further his study of art, in 1796. In 1815 John returned to New York city after having spent some 19 years in Paris making a name for himself in arts over in Europe. Some historians have written that he was one of the first artists to go to Paris to study art which started the influx of others for the coming century.

Miss Katherine Vanderlyn's will admitted to probate by the Surrogate of Ulster County on April 27, 1892 mentions the bequeathing of the Panorama of the Palace, Fountains and Forest of Versailles to the trustees of the Senate House Association and the 12 portraits painted by her uncle, John Vanderlyn, also to that association. It seems that now the famous Panorama is being shown in the Museum in New York city. I do not have the dimensions of it but it seems it was a popular way of making a little money by famous artists at the time to make and exhibit those gigantic canvases.

Looking through Carl Carmer's book, "The Hudson" he mentions Thomas Cole's famous "Moving Diorama" which was of the entire Hudson valley painted on rolling sheets. They were painted on 250,000 square feet of canvas that gives the spectator the illusion of traveling on water. Carmer does not give the date or details as to the method this first American moving-picture machine was used to show the Hudson valley panorama.

Thomas Cole came from Steubenville, Ohio according to Car-mer, in a cloth table cover coat his mother made for him. He could play the flute and between flute solos and oil landscapes he was able to eat and paint to his heart's content. Famous artist, Colonel John Trumbull 1756-1843) thought enough of Cole's paintings to buy one of his landscapes for $25. According to Carmer, Cole was English born and a Liverpool wood engraver later to become one of America's most noted artists.

Those were the days of the Hudson river school of paintings with studios set up all along the Hudson river, one of them being another Kingstonian, Jervis McEntee. Many homes that claimed culture and with means began to buy these Hudson scenes. Then pottery manufacturers began putting local scenes on plates, bowls, cups and saucers, many of which still exist.

The Hand-Me-Downs

By FRANK TRIPP

One of the kids was complaining that the crease was out of his best pants and he needed them to wear to a party that night. Memory flashed back three score years, to my first pair of long pants.

Frank Tripp came my first derby hat. Derbys then were as common as the soft hat today; sizes were made for boys.

My first derby had even shorter life than the long pants; in fact just one week. I wore it to Sunday School. Jealous kids in caps had a holiday. "Look at the dude in the pot hat," they jeered, and surged about me.

Roy Roberts knocked it off my head, and, before it hit the ground, he put his foot through it.

AT THAT TIME men didn't wear creases in their pants. As yet there were no presses and cleaners, but there were many custom tailors and all men who could afford it would pay as much as $30 to have a suit of the finest woolen made to measure, including a vest, of course. Today $125, and up.

A crease in one's trousers, so essential today, was the telltale to be avoided in the 90's. From that era came the phrase "hand-me-downs." It was not, as today, descriptive of clothing passed down through a family of children, made over as each grows up.

Hand-me-downs were ready-made clothes that "came down" off a stack on a dealer's shelf. Men who could afford tailor-made clothes also had hand-me-downs for work and common wear.

Tailors never pressed creases in pant legs. They pressed them as smooth and round as stove pipes. But the ready-made, at $12 to $18 a suit, from being stacked on a shelf, developed the creases which we now pay to keep there. The first thing that a man did with a new pair of hand-me-downs, always cuffless, was to have his wife press out the creases.

EQUALLY HARD to believe

When today's hand was played in the round robin of the Master Team Championship in the recent national tournament, my friend and associate Alfred Sheinwold engineered a neat swindle. He managed to make three no-trump when the opponents were cold for four spades!

North's jump to three clubs was intended as a shut-out bid. Sheinwold's tremendous club fit made him realize that he could win a sizable number of tricks at no-trump with reasonable luck. He therefore bid game in no-trump partly as a "make" and partly as a continuation of the shut-out policy.

West opened the king of hearts and Sheinwold dropped the seven. West, one of the most famous players in the world, noticed his partner's six of hearts and saw that both the four and the deuce were missing. Thinking that his partner had signaled for a heart continuation, West cashed the ace of hearts.

There was no further way to defeat the contract. Declarer actually made ten tricks, but he could not be stopped from making his game contract.

and cuffs, which up to then had been separate items on all but the roughest, crudest work shirts. Cuffs were as often attached to coat sleeves as to shirts. Starched stiff, they were held in place by clumsy adjustable metal gadgets.

SOFT COLLARS were unknown and the attached "turn-down" now universal, was a long time showing up. Collars often were as high as three inches, to chafe rings of red about the neck. Every man had a little square of paraffin to smooth the stiff-launched top edges of his saw-like high collars. They wore paper and celluloid collars too.

So, woman is not alone the "freed from ghoulish fashion" of our generation. Our fathers put up with as uncomfortable garb as did our mothers in their hourglass waist lines and pavement sweeping skirts.

Today's man wears, with his tuxedo, the same type of soft shirt in white broadcloth that his father wore in blue denim with his overalls. But he wants his pants kept creased, and his father ironed creases out.

Pardon me: my father did. Perhaps it was your grandfather. (Copyright, 1956, General Features Corp.)

Boy Found in Woods

Troy, N. Y., Sept. 4 (P)—David Strope, 4, was safe at home today after a holiday weekend excursion that brought out more than 100 volunteers in a search for the boy. David wandered from his home Saturday. State police, sheriff's deputies and volunteers started looking for the boy after he was reported missing. The youngster was found asleep early Sunday morning in the dense woods about a half-mile from his home.

Hitch-Hiker Dies

Ottawa, Sept. 4 (P)—Two Americans, who picked up a hitch-hiker Sunday, found the man dead in the back seat of their automobile yesterday. Coroner Thomas Kendall said John W. McNamara, 29, of Ottawa had died of acute alcoholism. Archie A. Maslin of Lockwood,

N. Y., and Allan W. Gouen of Athens, Pa., told police they had picked up McNamara as they drove to Ottawa. Police said the party had a few drinks and parked the car to sleep. McNamara was found dead yesterday morning.

Super Shell

with TCP

The most powerful gasoline
the most powerful cars can use

- a new grade of gasoline—the successor to Shell Premium
- higher than high test
- more aromatics—the power ingredients of aviation fuel
- TCP unleashes the full power of high octane

To meet the needs of today's high-compression engines and, at the same time, to fill the requirements of the even more powerful cars expected for '57, the Shell Oil Company has introduced an entirely new grade of gasoline.

It is Super Shell with TCP.*

Super Shell is higher than high test—even more powerful than Shell Premium Gasoline which it replaces.

Cars which have been using premium grade gasoline will deliver more power than they ever delivered before, when they switch to Super Shell. And that power will be quieter, smoother. For there is anti-knock protection in Super Shell that is effective over your entire speed range.

The source of this new performance is a "power pack" of special aviation gasoline ingredients known as aromatics. These are benzene, xylene and toluene—the most precious power ingredients a gasoline manufacturer can use.

In addition, Super Shell contains TCP to neutralize power-wasting engine deposits. That's why Super Shell unleashes the full power of high octane—why it keeps a car delivering its full power.

Stop at your Shell Dealer's new white pump and get Super Shell with TCP. It's the most powerful gasoline the most powerful cars can use.

Hotel Owner Dies

Bath, N. Y., Sept. 4 (AP)—Funeral services were scheduled today for Walter Wagner, 75, a former mayor and hotel owner, who died of a heart attack Saturday. He established the Hotel Wagner here in 1927 and another at Penn Yan later. For two years in the 1930s he was co-owner of the Jefferson Hotel in Watkins Glen. He retired in 1936. In 1931 and 1932 he served as mayor of Bath.

Rebates for Safe Drivers Asked by N. Y. Republicans

New York, Sept. 4 (AP)—New York city Republican candidates for the State Senate and Assembly have adopted a legislative "platform" calling, among other things, for automobile insurance rebates for safe drivers.

This is the first time the city's GOP candidates—25 for the Senate and 65 for the Assembly—have gotten together on a legislative program in advance of an election.

The platform also called for a legislative investigation into what it called the city's "chaotic transit situation" and repeal of state legislation enabling the city to "impose the unnecessary and obnoxious auto use tax."

Prepare Other Planks Only three planks in the platform were announced today. "Others are being prepared and will be announced as soon as possible," said the Republican Legislative Campaign Program Committee, sponsor of the platform.

Co-chairmen of the committee are Sen. MacNeil Mitchell of Manhattan and Assemblyman Fred Peller of Queens.

The committee said "we pledge to lend all the influence of our legislative position to help bring about concerted action by the insurance companies to see that those drivers of five or more years without an accident shall get a safety refund on their premiums."

It said it was taking this position "in view of the awful carnage on the highways and the dire need to encourage all means possible to promote safe driving."

'Breach of Faith'

Accusing the Democratic city administration of a "breach of faith," with the people on transit, the committee said the proposed legislative inquiry should stress:

"1. The lack of a master plan for new subway lines and extensions;

"2. The city's operation of its bus lines on which it is losing more than three million dollars yearly; and

"3. What may be salvaged for rapid transit extensions from the 500-million-dollar bond issue authorized by the voters in 1951 for a Second Avenue subway and extensions, but a great part of which has been diverted for other purposes in callous disregard for the promises to the people."

Wagner Criticized In hitting at the auto use tax, the committee said:

"Its continuance would work an unjustified hardship on the motorist and would only afford the Democratic administration surplus monies to indulge in new extravagances."

"In the 1953 New York city election campaign, Robert F. Wagner promised if elected mayor that he would act to repeal the $5 and $10 auto use tax, one of the more recent of the nuisance taxes."

"There were no ifs or buts to the mayor's pledge, but after election he chose to ignore it, blaming its continued imposition on the refusal of the legislature to divert still more state funds to his free-spending administration."

Wagner at present is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senator, and is virtually assured of nomination.

Co-op Barn Burns

Ithaca, N. Y., Sept. 4 (AP)—Fire has destroyed a one-story frame barn owned by the New York State Artificial Breeders Cooperative. Harold Orsa, cooperative assistant manager, estimated the loss at $25,000. The cause of the fire was not determined. At Lake George, fire leveled a vacant 12-room frame house about three miles north of the lake, which supplied the firefighters with water.

Hunt Migrant Worker

Williamson, N. Y., Sept. 4 (AP)—Police today were hunting a migrant worker who was last seen driving an automobile owned by a Rochester printer who was stabbed to death and robbed yesterday. Whittier I. Compton, 56, of nearby Marion, was found dead of stab wounds at a farm near here. State police said the $100 or $150 the man was supposed to have been carrying were missing.

BOOK REVIEW

To further increase interest in the Kingston Library the following review by Mrs. G. Cramer Dodge is published.

CHARMED CIRCLE

By Susan Ertz

The charmed circle of this delightful story is that of a family so closely knit and interdependent that practically all of their joys and interests were with and for one another.

Myron Prentiss, only son of Gideon Prentiss, owner and founder of an immensely successful merchandising business, while an art student in Paris met, and immediately fell in love with lovely Ruth Denniker, member of an old New York family. Myron followed Ruth back to New York and there, soon after Gideon's death, they were married.

Then started their ideally happy life together. They lived luxuriously in a mansion on Sixty-sixth street with prolonged annual trips abroad, where Myron indulged freely in adding to his collection of art treasures. Of their three children only Halley, the eldest was born in New York. Clarisse was born in Paris and Julian in Rome. For many years their family life was unbelievably serene. Their outside contacts were very few. They were completely content with one another's company and that of a very few others. The children's nurse, the tutors, the servants were seldom changed and they, too seemed part of the family. So did "Uncle Syl," Sylvanus Dumont, the kindly bachelor lawyer who looked after Myron's financial affairs; and Syl's nephew, Fred, and his nieces, Rosie and Helen Dumont.

Of course such a happy situation couldn't last forever. The first break came when Halley, egged on by Uncle Syl, decided that he wanted to go to Harvard and did go. That wasn't serious. It only meant that Halley followed his family to Europe each summer instead of crossing with them. The serious break came when Clarisse announced her engagement to Fred Dumont. The thought of their only daughter marrying and leaving home (Fred had made it plain that he intended to make their home at some distance from the parental nest) was almost more than Ruth and Myron could bear. The wedding was an occasion for gleeful rejoicing on the part of Uncle Syl, and of deep gloom on the part of the bride's parents.

However Clarisse decided on the wedding night that she couldn't go through with her marriage. Leaving her bridegroom at dinner, she took a taxi home, arriving in a state of hysteria and declaring that she wouldn't go back. Fred came and demanded to see his wife. He was refused the privilege. A deadlock ensued with Fred imploring and threatening and with Myron keeping his daughter in seclusion. Then Fred's despair became desperate. He went to a cheap hotel and there shot himself.

Following his usual tendency to not face unpleasant facts, Myron fled to Europe with his family and there they settled down as expatriates. Myron even gave most of his fine art collection to France and proudly wore the ribbon of the Legion of Honor. Then came the market crash of 1929 which wiped out a large part of Myron's fortune. This might have, in part anyway, been avoided had Myron had Uncle Syl's wise counsel; but since Fred's suicide all friendly and business relations between them had been permanently broken off.

Once again the family circle was as before except that many former extravagances were cut out. Most of the attention was centered upon the beautiful young widow who, lacking the male adoration to which she had been accustomed, became self-centered and restless. Then she married a French count who alternately adored and neglected her, so that after a short time she divorced him.

Meantime Julian, more lonely than usual found companionship among a ratty group of Communists. Halley got himself a small job in an art gallery in London and there by chance met and later married Selma, adopted daughter of a fantastic couple living in London's East End, and by all odds the most engaging and admirable character in the book. Halley was a kind and loving husband and willingly shared with Selma the discomforts of the small, cheap flat which was all they could manage with their combined earnings, but he was enough of a snob to be unable to tell his family of his marriage to a little typist.

It took another tragedy to make the family accept Selma. Surprisingly the one who was most gracious about it was Clarisse.

After Labor Day Looms Darkness

By NEA Service

New York—(NEA)—For millions of motorists, Labor Day is the year's last big weekend fling on the highways. For traffic safety experts, it is the year's last big weekend of another tragic, record-setting traffic toll.

Darkness Is Factor

But as summer ends, another grim death factor enters the highway picture: Darkness.

Despite the fact that two-thirds of traffic on the nation's highways rolls during daylight hours, no less than 56 per cent of the 38,300 persons killed in traffic accidents last year were victims of night-time crashes.

Crenshaw to Remain

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 4 (AP)—New York state will not force Clarence Crenshaw to return to Alabama, where he escaped from prison while serving a life sentence for murder. Charles Van Devander, Gov. Harriman's press secretary, said Saturday that the governor had withdrawn a warrant under which the 42-year-old Negro would have been returned to serve the sentence he began in 1932 after a conviction for the murder of a white man. Crenshaw escaped Aug. 7, 1955, and was arrested in New York last December. The governor signed an extradition warrant in January but ordered a new investigation last month by his counsel, Daniel Guttman. The press aide said the governor had also requested a psychiatric examination and that in it Crenshaw had been found to be "a passive individual who became involved . . . through situational factors." Van Devander said it appeared that Crenshaw's younger brother, then 9, had been beaten by the man who became the victim in the case.

New England Toll 16

Boston, Sept. 4 (AP)—The New England toll of accidental deaths during the 3-day Labor Day weekend today stood at 16, three more than were killed during the same holiday period last year. New Hampshire and Vermont had clean slates during the three days. Massachusetts had two traffic fatalities, one drowning and two miscellaneous accidental deaths; Maine had four highway deaths and a drowning; Rhode Island had three car deaths and Connecticut one traffic death and two deaths in a miscellaneous accident. Connecticut deaths included Howard J. Grevenitz, 23, of Long Island City, N. Y., in a fall from a Merritt Parkway overpass at Westport.

There are 65,000 sawmills in the U. S.

Death in the dark has become a major problem to America on wheels. Although highways are engineered to handle growing traffic and more powerful automobiles, lighting hasn't caught up with the traffic.

Only 12 municipalities in the nation are lighted to the minimum code level established by the Illuminating Engineering Society and the American Standards Association.

The fact that these towns have a lower average traffic fatality rate than do cities with inadequate lighting facilities is mute testimony that many of the 21,400 persons who died by night on our roads last year lost their lives for want of a light.

Few Are Adequate

As further evidence of the country's outmoded street lighting system, a recent nationwide survey of illuminating engineers indicated that only seven per cent of all U. S. streets and highways are adequately lighted.

For proof of the effect that good lighting has on a city's accident rate, look what happened in the Mid-West metropolis of Indianapolis.

That city took stock of its lighting system a few years ago and realized that street lighting was not keeping pace with the modernization of the rest of the town. Municipal officials decided to do something about the situation and immediately set about improving lighting conditions on the city's main thoroughfares.

After relighting 50 miles of urban streets, night traffic fatalities dropped from 41 to 25 in a year's time despite a 50 per cent increase in vehicle registration

Report on Employment

New York, Sept. 4 (AP)—State Industrial Commissioner Isador Lubin reports that nonfarm employment in the state in July surpassed the July, 1955, level but fell 55,000 short of the post-war peak for July set in 1953.

Lubin's report, released yesterday, said last month's employment was 5,907,600, a drop of 66,000 from June. The decline was attributed largely to the nationwide steel strike, seasonal slowdowns in manufacturing and retail trade, and the reduction in the staffs of public schools.

Local Resident Helps Plan Annual German Volksfest

Each summer brings a series of outdoor folk festivals arranged by various major sectional groups from among the metropolitan area's estimated more than one million Americans of German descent and naturalized natives such as Bavarian, Plattdeutsche, Badenian and others, whose forbears came from a particular state or region of the old pre-Hitler German Reich, each with its own dialect, folk lore and colorful dress.

Ernst Kittelberger, PO Box 46, Modena, will take a leading part in the general arrangements for the huge festival and serve as committee chairman.

Outstanding among these are the "Cannstatters," born of the old Kingdom of Wuertemberg, who make their "Volksfest" formal event, the members clad in silk toppers, frock coats, striped trousers and their women in picturesque red and black bell-shaped dirndl skirts, a mode of attire reported to be the only one of its kind at a German-American festival in this country.

The Cannstatter Folk Festival Society, organized in 1862 in the then "Little Germany" area of lower Manhattan, has held such a "Volksfest" each year since and its membership has fanned out into Long Island, Westchester, New Jersey and eastern Pennsylvania.

This year's event, the 94th, will be held Sunday afternoon, Sept. 9, at the only picnic area found large enough to accommodate the 5,000 persons that usually take part, at the Schutzen Park, 32nd street and Hudson County Boulevard, North Bergen, N. J.

WHEN THE WOMAN WISHES TO PAY

"The other evening I asked friends of mine to dine with me in a restaurant. I live alone at a club and have no place to entertain people. This couple has been very nice to me and I thought I would reciprocate by inviting them to dinner. When we arrived at the restaurant I asked the waiter to bring me the check at the end of dinner but apparently he forgot and handed it to the man. He took the check and paid it though I asked him to please let me have it. I feel terrible about this and would like to know if it would be proper for me to send him a check for the amount of the bill, or might this hurt his feelings?"

Answer: If it was a large amount, I would send him a check and explain that you really wanted to give the dinner. Another time try to arrange with the restaurant to pay for your dinner in advance so that there will be no check.

Dancing At Reception

Dear Mrs. Post: Are the wedding guests supposed to wait until the bride party dances the first dance at the reception, or may everyone join them on the dance floor and not wait? What is customary?

Answer: If a dance floor is cleared and the orchestra plays dance music while the bride and groom are still receiving, guests are expected to dance. On many occasions the orchestra does not play dance music until the bride and groom are ready to dance. In this case they dance once around the floor and then the ushers and bridesmaids join them and later any guests who want to.

When To Give Housewarming?

Dear Mrs. Post: How long is it permissible to wait, after moving into a new house, to give a housewarming? Must such a party be given soon after moving in, or may one wait as long as six months before giving this party?

Answer: There is no rule as to how soon it must be given, and you may certainly wait as long as six months.

Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Her latest E-2, "Formal Wedding Procedure," includes details for a double wedding. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

To be in fashion in the fall of 1956—and particularly if it's after five—you have to date yourself circa 1912-16. We don't mean you have to look as though you wandered out of the cast of the nonpareil musical My Fair Lady without bothering to change. We mean you will want the new hair fashion to go with the insistently feminine atmosphere of the clothes an Empire hat.

Hiss No Spy, Truman Avers

Milwaukee, Sept. 4 (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman belabored Republicans, and Vice President Nixon, in particular, yesterday and said he doesn't think Alger Hiss was a Communist spy.

Sticks to 'Herring'

Truman, in a television interview during a day-long series of appearances in Milwaukee, was asked whether he hadn't described Nixon's investigation of Alger Hiss as a "red herring."

"No, but it was," the ex-president said.

Asked whether he thought Hiss was a Communist spy, Truman said, "no."

Truman also declared that Nixon accused him of treason on Oct. 27, 1952, at Texarkana, Tex.

Scores GOP

He said the Republican administration was motivated by "legal racketeers."

"They are legal racketeers. They have thrown away the assets of the United States government and they are working on a tax program that helps the big man and disregards the little fellow," he said.

Redhead in Embassy

London, Sept. 4 (AP)—Nina Ponomareva, Russia's discus champion, was still a problem for London police today. They want her on charges of shoplifting $4.60 worth of hats and jumping $14 bail. The 27-year-old, 168-pound redhead was safe from arrest for the time being in the Soviet embassy, where British bobbies have no right to enter.

But a Russian spokesman said she planned to leave England in two or three days. She could be arrested on the way out—unless the charges were dropped. There were signs that they might be.

Advice to a bald-headed bore: Get a toupee with brains in it.

The ideological onslaught against litter louts has not won over the younger generation.

Waiting in a bus shelter on a wet afternoon, an acquaintance was joined by two schoolgirls who began to eat candy and threw the wrappings on the ground. Speaking as mildly as possible, the acquaintance said: Acquaintance - Do you think that is a proper thing to do? Suppose everybody threw their things down like that. The elder girl answered solemnly: Elder Girl - Everybody does. It is difficult to counter the logic of the argument.

Your religion gets the acid test when you find yourself in church with nothing less than a dollar bill. Woman - My husband is particularly liable to sea-sickness, captain. The skipper nodded. Captain - I've heard of the complaint before, ma'am. Woman - Could you tell him what to do in case of an attack? Captain - Taint necessary, ma'am. He'll do it. The lecturer had reached his most telling point: "He who gives in when he's right is . . . Married!" came a voice from the audience. Loudly dressed people have the effect of leaving a bad taste in one's eyes. The exam question was a real puzzler. It asked why "psychic" is spelled with the letter "p." The young man in the front corner did not have the answer, but he felt he could not leave the question unheeded. Shaking his head, he wrote, "It certainly does pseem psilly." To prove that old soldiers do not fade away, just try getting into your old uniform. A Hollywood wag relates this one: A singer informed her friend she had insured her voice for $10,000. The friend's rejoinder was, "Well, what did you do with the money?" Gangster - Come on! Let's figure up how much we made on this job. Accomplice - Heck, no! I'm tired. Let's wait and look in the morning papers. During its period as a state, Alabama has had five capitals: St. Stephens, Huntsville, Cahaba, Tuscaloosa and Montgomery, the capital since 1846. - J. ## Ike Offers Reports to Stevenson

Washington, Sept. 4 (AP)—President Eisenhower today formally offered his Democratic opponent, Adlai Stevenson, weekly confidential briefings on foreign intelligence reports received by the government.

The President sent a telegram to Stevenson setting forth the offer. Eisenhower's action came after the Democratic presidential nominee expressed a wish that he might have such information.

In commenting on Stevenson's desire for the information, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said last Saturday that Eisenhower all along had intended to offer confidential briefings to his opponent. Hagerty said then that a formal offer to Stevenson would be made very shortly.

The press secretary said today that Eisenhower wired Stevenson "offering him weekly briefings on intelligence data."

October Checkup Planned for Ike

Washington, Sept. 4 (AP)—President Eisenhower, probably will have a pre-election physical examination some time during October, the White House said today.

The President told a news conference Aug. 8 he planned a new full scale physical in advance of the November elections. He reaffirmed his promise—made when he announced for re-election—that he will let the American people know if anything causes him to think he is not fit to serve a second term.

Eisenhower made that statement while he still was convalescing from his June 9 intestinal operation.

The new examination will provide a check on that surgery as well as on the heart attack which Eisenhower suffered last Sept. 24.

Asked today when the new examination will take place, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said:

"The likelihood is sometime during October."

Cops Third Woodstock Club Title

Loser Tops Drive on First Extra Hole

Bill Van Aken captured his third straight Woodstock Country Club title Saturday in a dramatic, 37-hole, sudden death, 1 up victory over Henry (Bud) Leininger in what was probably the finest exhibition of golf ever played in a county club championship.

Both players — friends and golf cronies of long standing — toured the village links in 4-under-par total of 136 for the regulation 36 holes.

Leininger carded a pair of 68s and Van Aken hit 69-67. The challenger was out in 32 on the front nine in the afternoon round.

Wins Club Trophy
The victory earned for Van Aken his 10th major golf title and enabled him to gain permanent possession of the club's title trophy. He has now won three Woodstock championships to go along with three titles at the old Wiltwyck club, two county and two city crowns.

Having rallied to tie the match on the 36th hole after leading most of the way, Leininger quickly lost his chance to register a major upset. He topped his drive on the first extra hole and was short of the green with a long iron on the next.

Leininger's chip shot barely made the green, leaving him with a 25-foot putt. Van Aken, who had hooked three tee shots into the rough on the left side of the first fairway, split the middle this time and pitched to within 6 feet of the pin. When Leininger made a gallant but futile effort to can his long putt, the match was over.

The title went to Van Aken, an old hand at collecting crockery but Leininger won the plaudits of the crowd with his superb pitch shots and putting. He was 1 up at the end of the morning round with a fifty 35-33 and led by 2 holes at the end of 27.

Tied On 32nd Green
Van Aken squared the match with a birdie-4 on the 32nd green where he ran down a five-footer. He then blasted a terrific tee shot to the ditch fronting the No. 6 (33rd) green but blew a 4-footer for a birdie.

The champion made a fine recovery on the 34th, punching a 4-iron shot under a clump of trees to within 9 feet of the pin to get his par which kept the match even.

Leininger got off a bad tee shot on the 35th, the ball caroming off the trees in front of the tee. He banged a long wood to the right of the green and was 18 feet short of the cup on his third shot. Van Aken pitched to within 6 feet and canned his birdie.

The match apparently had been settled then and there but Leininger was far from finished. Van Aken pushed his tee shot to the right of the green on the rugged 9th hole and peeked on his pitch shot to land in a trap. Leininger, just off the green on his drive, chipped to within six inches to square the match and send it into extra holes.

Van Aken's card showed eight birdies and Leininger had six. The latter's superb pitch shots electrified the crowd on several occasions when he almost holed out on a half dozen tries.

Playoff Teams Set in Eastern

By The Associated Press
The cast for the Eastern League Governor's Cup play has been selected. It now remains for the players to assume their roles.

The league championship is far from settled but at least the first four teams in the standings now are assured of making the playoffs.

SCHENECTADY CONTINES
to hold the No. 1 position in the race with Binghamton and Reading for the crown. Allentown, ranked fourth, is apparently reconciled to its first-division place as the end of the schedule draws near.

The Blue Jays took a twin bill from the Albany Senators yesterday at Albany, 7-1 and 4-1. The second game went 14 innings. The dual-win increased the Jays' lead a half-game to three games over Binghamton's Triplets. Reading, the defending champion, is four games behind in third.

Binghamton defeated Syracuse 5-3 at Syracuse in 10 innings and Reading kept pennant-hopes alive with a 5-1 triumph at Allentown. Williamsport took a doubleheader at Johnstown, shutting out the last place Johnnies, 1-0 in 11 innings and 6-0.

Home run performances by Schenectady's Ed Waytula and Red Robbins paced the Jays' victory in the opener. Waytula smacked his fifth and Robbins accounted for his 13th and 14th of the season.

A WALK, TWO SINGLES, and a double and a sacrifice fly gave the front-runners three runs in the top of the 14th to edge the scrappy Senators. Lefty Dick Bunker went the route for the Jays in winning his 16th in 24 decisions. He walked three and fanned 10.

The second game was a scheduled seven-inning affair. Syracuse's last hopes of gaining a playoff berth died in losing to the Triplets.

The Trips pushed three runs over in the top of the extra frame. Don Bradley's wild pitch helped the Trips decide the outcome.

GARY BELL sparked the Reading Indians to their 12th victory in 20 games over Allentown. He lost his shutout in the ninth on back-to-back singles by Fred Koenig and Ray Mendoza and a sacrifice fly by Al Grandcolas.

Jackie Richardson's single broke up the opener for Williamsport. His hit in the 11th sent Rex Babcock across with the only run of the game. Chucy Buheller of the winners and Johnstown's Joe Shipley went the distance for their respective teams in a red-hot pitchers' duel. Buheller gave up four hits and Shipley, six.

Don Shults allowed the Johnnies five hits in the windup. Only one Johnny got as far as second base in the nightcap.

Ohioians Refuse to Quit Redlegs Holding on Grimly In National League Chase

By ED WILKS
(The Associated Press)
The Cincinnati Redlegs are getting downright uncooperative in that National League pennant chase. They just don't die.

Remember when they lost three straight in Brooklyn? And when they dropped three of four at Milwaukee? Or when they won only three of seven from the Braves and Dodgers in Cincinnati? It looked like it was time to buy beer for the wake.

TROUBLE IS, the beer, not the Redlegs, wound up on ice. They had a dandy chance to get measured again in the Labor Day doubleheader at Milwaukee. They blew a 2-0 lead and lost the first game 3-2. Then they blew a 2-0 lead in the nightcap, but bounced back to pack it away on Ted Kluszewski's 34th home run and a long-haul relief job by Brooks Lawrence that beat the Braves 7-5.

The split kept the Redlegs within 3 1/2 games of first place Milwaukee and in a second place tie with Brooklyn, which split a pair with Pittsburgh. The Dodgers rallied to take the opener 4-3, but then got beat at their own game as the Pirates pulled a squeeze bunt to win the nightcap 3-2.

The other NL twinbills also were split. St. Louis defeated Chicago's Cubs 4-2, then lost 8-0. And Philadelphia smacked the New York Giants 5-1 before losing 2-1.

IN THE AMERICAN, Baltimore's Orioles kept Mickey Mantle homerless—putting him even with Babe Ruth's record 60-homer pace in 1927 with 47 in 133 games—but lost a doubleheader to the New York Yankees 6-1 and 5-0. Second place Cleveland slipped 8 1/2 games behind, losing 5-2 in a morning game at Kansas City, then winning the afternoon contest 2-1.

Chicago's White Sox split with Detroit, losing 11-8 and winning 5-3. Boston walloped Washington twice, 7-5 and 16-0.

Frank Robinson hit his 36th home run, two shy of the rookie record, for the Redlegs in the opener, but Hank Aaron busted his 22nd and 23rd for a 2-all tie. Joe Adcock then broke it up in the ninth with a single after Aaron's double and Lew Burdette had his 18th victory. Johnny Klippstein was the loser, getting banged on the leg by Adcock's winning blow.

CINCINNATI ROCKED 16-game-winner Bob Buhl early in the nightcap and Klu then packed it away with a two-run sock in the fifth. Lawrence came on in the third to win his 18th. Bobby Thomson hit his 19th home run and Aaron his third of the day in the Braves' comeback try.

A double by Sandy Amoros broke a 3-all first game tie for the Dodgers in the eighth against Bob Friend, but the 15-14 righthander then came back in relief to save the second game decision for Elroy Face. Dick Groat's eighth-inning bunt squeezed home Lee Walls, who had tripled against Don Drysdale, with the winning run.

Murry Dickson, winning his 12th, had two RBI singles for the Cards in the opener, which Rip Repulski's two-run single put away in the seventh. Walt Moryn, who hit his 18th homer in the first game, smacked a pair in the nightcap along with Ernie Banks' 27th.

BOB MILLER four hit the Giants in the opener, backed by two-run singles by Del Ennis and Andy Seminick in the first inning. Jackie Brandt's eighth-inning single won the nightcap.

Johnny Kuck's 18th victory was a cinch in the Yankee opener after Yogi Berra hit his 24th and 25th homers for a 3-0 lead. Don Larsen then gave just four hits, fanning 10, to take the nightcap with Bill Skowron slugging a supporting home run.

Vic Power slammed two home runs as the A's beat Mike Garcia in the first game. Early Wynn knocked in the run and collared his 16th victory with a two-out single as the Tribe scored twice in the nightcap ninth.

THE TIGERS MADE it four in a row, and pulled to 500, on home runs by Red Wilson, Ray Boone and Harvey Kuenn in the opener. But Larry Doby, Minnie Minoso, Fred Hatfield and Jim Rivera poked White Sox homers in the afterpiece with 18-game-winner Billy Pierce saving Bob Keegan's victory in relief.

If Joe Louis can crack through the "High Finance" barrier the next few weeks to corral the $70,000 loot . . . and a hoped-for tax settlement with the government . . . the Brown Bomber could live comfortably . . . on his IBC salary and some few investments he still has. . . .

Even the Yankee front office didn't know how to get hold of Phil Rizzuto late the night they released him . . . seems the Scooter has a habit of changing his phone number almost every month. . . .

The first Braves' scout who looked over Selva Lewis Burdette, Jr., told him, "You'll never make it in organized baseball, son. Better stick to football."

Which is one reason he drifted into the Yankee farm system . . . only to become a Braye in the Sain deal . . . ironically, as a minor leaguer in the American Association. Lew never won a game in Milwaukee. . . .

Sure sign of fall: Hank Bauer leaning against the batting cage before a game and groaning, "I'm tired before the so-and-so even begins."

One of the unique friendships in sports is that of Rocky Marciano and Frankie Gengler, a diesel dealer from Mt. Carmel, Pa., who didn't know the difference between a left hook and a left turn . . . they met when Rocky came to town for a local parade, and Gengler was his driver escort . . . also got to bragging what a great kids' baseball team he sponsored. . . . The Rock answered, "I got one up home that'll beat yours any day in the week." . . . So Sept. 5, the Brockton Blockbusters, managed by Rocky Marciano and featuring Peter Marciano, will fly into the Pennsylvania town for a challenge game with the Gengler Diesels. . . .

Guy was kidding Billy Martin about his short sleeves, a la Klu and calling him, "Biceps" . . . retorted The Kid, "Make that Forceps."

Bobby Jones, an old pal of Ty Cobb, says, "I lost interest in baseball when they started playing it at night. . . . and I could then go on my own time. . . . Biggest kick I ever got out of going to ball games was playing hooky—from school or business."

Moscow's cool to an Abe Saperstein bid to bring his Globetrotters into Russia-land. . . .

West Virginia has a center, Chuck Howley, who can stack up against any of them for versatility. . . . he's also a trampolinist, low board diver, wrestling champ, 10-second sprinter (at 6-2 and 210 pounds) and weight man . . . and spent last year playing guard. . . .

Tennessee's thinking of letting Texas Tech stage the indoctrination of Vol immortal Beattie Feathers (now a Red Raider assistant) into the Football Hall of Fame. . . . Explanation: "They got more money'n us."

In a poll on Mickey Mantle's chase for the Ruth homer mark, the Yankees voted 2-1 against . . . matter of fact, they were less interested in the Mick's personal achievements than in what the homers would do to help them win the pennant. . . .

Shoots 66 Enroute to 4th Crown

Plays 26-Hole Route In Four Under Par

George Hughes toured the Twaalfskill Club's finely manicured fairways for a blistering 4-under-par 66 on the morning nine and was 4 under for 26 holes to trounce Clarence (Dubby) Raichle, 11 and 10, in Saturday's 36-hole club finals.

Thus the sorrel thatched Sweet Swinger racked up his second straight Twaalfskill crown and his fourth since 1951.

The title also boosted to nine the total of major crowns now held by the Twaalfskill champion. He holds three county and two city titles and took the Twaalfskill titles in 1951, 1953, 1955 and 1956.

Hughes put together nines of 34 and 32 to lead by nine holes at the end of the morning round. He canned five birdies and bogied the first hole. He was even par for the eight holes on the front nine in the afternoon.

Raichle, who had played brilliantly the day before to eliminate three-time champion, Alvin Boice, 3 and 2, carded 39-36 for a 75 and won only the first and 12th holes in the morning round. Hughes' front nine 34 in the first round sent him five up and he picked up four more holes on the second nine.

Hughes parred the 19th hole to go 10 up but Raichle hung on tenaciously through the next six holes until he bogied the par 4-eighth (26th) hole to close out the match.

Ithaca, N. Y., Sept. 4 (AP)—Coach Lefty James has the Cornell football squad working out at two practise sessions daily. He said he would continue that routine with the 64 candidates—including 13 lettermen—until Sept. 17. The first session was Saturday.

The opening game Sept. 29 is with Colgate. James said he had two possible replacements for star Bill DeGraaf, who was quarterback for three years: James Suiter of Sunbury, Pa., a senior, and Tom Skyspeck of Chicopee, Mass. DeGraaf graduated in June.

Jones Dairy Blasts Watzkas 8-2, to Capture Series Lead

Comeback Victory
Dodgers Capture Third Straight Glasco-EK Title

The Dodgers captured the Glasco-East Kingston Little League championship for the third successive year with a come-from-behind 7-6 win over the Yanks Saturday at Glasco. The win enabled the Brooks to sweep the best-of-three series in two straight games. Last week they won the playoff opener 5-1.

THE DODGERS retained the title in sensational fashion, erupting for five runs in the last inning to wipe out a 5-2 deficit. The Yanks came back with a tally in their half, but it wasn't quite enough.

Singles by Len Robinson and Mike Celuch were the key blows in the last inning flurry. The blows were sandwiched between four walks and a hit batsman.

Bob Gallo was the victim of the winning surge and took the loss. Robinson was the winning hurler.

The Yanks built up a comfortable 4-0 lead after two innings. They netted a solo marker in the first on three walks and an error. In the second two hit batters and singles by Fred Francello and Lou Spada did the damage.

THE VICTORS finally broke through with a pair of runs in the fourth. Celuch's double and Sal Ferrine's single plus two walks and a couple of ground outs accounted for the scores. The Yanks came back in their half to make the count 5-2 when Robinson batted over a run. The losers final tally was scored on Paul Natale's two-bagger and Francello's run-producing single.

Gallo struck out 10 and Robinson nine. They both walked seven.

Yonkers Post Bows in Tourney

Bismarck, N. D., Sept. 4 (AP)—New Orleans rode a one-hit pitching performance by Jim Harwell to a 2-0 victory over Yonkers, N. Y., in the second first-round game of the American Legion national junior baseball tournament yesterday.

Harwell faced only 30 batters, striking out 13 and walking one. His teammates rapped eight hits off Yonkers' Jerome Fields.

New Orleans opened the scoring in the first inning when shortstop Bryan Pietri singled, moved to second on a balk by Fields and came home on a single by third baseman Don Bossier.

The southerners' second tally came in the top of the second when Fields issued a bases-loaded walk to left fielder Al Rebennack, forcing in catcher Sonny Molenaar.

The teams settled into a tightly played game until the seventh inning when New Orleans again threatened with the bases loaded and one away. But Pietri hit into a double play.

In yesterday's opener, St. Louis defeated Roseburg, Ore., 10-0. The next action sends Roseburg against Yonkers tomorrow night to determine which of the two will continue in the double elimination tournament.

Bechtold Whiffs 13 At Stadium

Colonials split a New York-New Jersey League doubleheader with the Brooklyn Windsors over the weekend, winning 6-4 Saturday at Dietz Stadium behind the 2-hit pitching of Bruce Bechtold, who struck out 13.

A newcomer to the Colonial Staff, Ernie Souza dropped a 5-2 decision Sunday at Brooklyn with a lineup that scarcely resembled the Colonial cast of the regular season.

Manager Fred Davi's tossers wind up their 1956 league season next Saturday night against the Bronx Mohawks at Dietz Stadium.

Lefty Auletta limited the Colonials to five hits and fanned 12 in the Sunday contest. Frank Secreto collected two singles to pace the Colonials hitters.

In Saturday's game, Bechtold was wild in spots, dealing out 12 walks and four of them were turned into Windsor tallies with the help of Colonial miscues and undue liberties the visitors were taking with Jim Mackey's arm.

Mackey, normally a pitcher-outfielder, caught in place of Bob Sheltner, who missed the game because of the illness. The Windsors discovered early that Mackey was vulnerable and ran riot on the bases.

Near No-Hitter
Bechtold had a no-hitter going until the opposing pitcher Tom Hassett sliced a solid single near the right field foul line with one out in the sixth inning. The other hit was single through the middle by Mora that second baseman Pat Gatti got his glove on without a hit.

Colonials moved ahead 3-0 in the third on a couple of walks by Phil Gatti and Cliff Schoonmaker. Tom Carlino's single, a double by Mike Devo, a wild pitch and a throwing error by the Windsor catcher's arm, Mackey pounded a lustrous triple behind an infield boot on a Carlino grounder and scored on an infield for two Colonial markers in the seventh. Manager Davi's tossers picked up their final run in the eighth on singles by Gorsline and Schoonmaker and an error by the catcher.

Mackey atoned for his shortcomings as a catcher by belting a single and double. Red Gorsline emerged from a protracted slump with a pair of singles.

Hughes Wins Over Bill Van Aken, 3 and 1

Shoots Even Par For 35 Holes in Inter-Club Duel

Shooting even par for 35 holes, George Hughes, the newly-crowned Twaalfskill champion, defeated arch rival, Bill Van Aken, wearing the Woodstock championship spangles for the third straight year, 3 and 1, in a 36-hole exhibition match Labor Day.

The match replaced the traditional Labor Day city play-off.

Hughes carded a 36-33-69 to gain a 2-hole lead in the morning round at Twaalfskill where he went 4 up on the first five holes. Thereafter it was a tremendous duel between two opponents who have a great deal of respect for each other until the crashing denouement on the last four holes at Woodstock.

Van Aken stumbled on the first nine at Twaalfskill where he needed a 38 but rallied with a 34 on the back nine, despite a double-bogie on the 10th hole.

Both were out in 34s on the front line at Woodstock where Van Aken birdied the sixth (25th) hole and parred the ninth to Hughes' bogey-four to slice the Twaalfskill champion's margin to one hole at the end of 27.

Squared on 30th Hole
Van Aken ran down 65-footer on the third hole (30th) where Hughes' tee shot landed in the pond. That squared the match for the first and only time during the last day.

The breaking point was the par-5 fifth (32nd) where Van Aken settled for a bogey-6 after missing a long tee shot. Hughes hit the rough on his drive, then pushed his approach into a trap. Van Aken, meanwhile, hooked a blunder into the third fairway. He missed the approach and landed in the left trap. He was on in four, three feet away. Hughes came out of the trap in three, 20 feet short and puffed close enough for a concession and a five. Van Aken blew his putt and the match was decided then and there.

They halved the sixth (33rd) but on the dog leg seventh (34) Van Aken tried to clear the trees and failed, the ball landing in the trees. His next shot glanced off a tree and he was 30 feet away on his third. Hughes pitched to within 10 feet and got an easy four to go 2 up.

Dormie 2, Van Aken went the works with his driver on the eighth hole (35th) but pushed his shot and went out of bounds by three inches to close out the match. Hughes played safely down the middle and was on in two.

Mathews Sprains Ankle
Milwaukee, Sept. 4 (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves adopted a "wait and see" attitude toward the ankle sprain suffered yesterday by Eddie Mathews, their slugging third baseman. "We won't be able to tell how serious the injury to his right ankle is until he shows up for tonight's game with Cincinnati," said Dr. Charles Lacks. "The X-rays were negative, but you can't tell how serious the injury is. Injuries to soft tissue are difficult to evaluate."

Two Teams Tie in Wiltwyck Mixed Foursome Best-Ball
The teams of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Shufeldt and John Provenzano and Mrs. Frank Prior carded net 37s to tie for first place in the mixed foursome, best-ball tournament Sunday at the Wiltwyck Country Club.

Four husband and wife combinations were deadlocked with net 38s, including Mr. and Mrs. J. Watson Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carnright, Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Turck, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Marr.

The tournament was followed by a steak barbecue which was well attended by both golf and social members.

Poirier May Quit Ring After Loss To Giovannelli
New York, Sept. 4 (AP)—A fifth-round, 35-year-old Gene Poirier was one of the brightest prospects in the welterweight division. Today the 24-year-old scrapper from Niagara Falls, N. Y., was thinking of quitting the ring.

"I may hang them up," said Poirier disgustedly last night after he lost his second straight bout with Brooklyn's Danny Giovannelli. The heat bothers me. I don't have any snap. I have to go easy at the beginning if I want to have anything left at the end."

The 24-year-old Army veteran of the Korean campaign barely finished the telecast 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena last night. He was staggered three times in the eighth round and was dropped just before the bell sounded in the tenth to end the fight.

Giovannelli, a 2-1 favorite on the strength of his eighth round technical knockout of Poirier on July 23, received the unanimous verdict by identical 8-2 round margins from the three officials. Danny weighed 148½, Gene 150½.
